Date of the latest update of the web page presented in this brochure is provided above in the top-left corner. (Note that in case of having access to several copies of this brochure, it is recommended to read the copy which has the latest date of amendment.)

This brochure publishes the text of the web page authored by Dr Eng. Jan Pająk, indicated in the title of it. In turn the author's web pages are forms of fast reporting to the readers results of scientific research accomplished by the author of this brochure. The author is aware, that this research, and the results, are unique, as no-one in the entire world undertook earlier research of topics elaborated in this brochure. Therefore ideas which this brochure presents are the intellectual property of the author of this brochure. All ideas, theories, inventions, discoveries, explanations, descriptions, etc., published here, which have documentary or evidential value, are presented accordingly to standards applicable for scientific publications (reports). A special attention the author has given to the requirement of repetitiveness, i.e. that on the basis of this brochure any professional scientist or hobby investigator who would like to verify, repeat, or extend the author's research should be able to recreate his work and arrive at the same or very similar results and conclusions.

This brochure is another one from a series of similar brochures in PDF, offered free of charge to interested readers by the totaliztic web page named text 11.htm - which disseminates PDF versions of most significant and most widely read web pages by the author. The topic of this brochure is represented also in the newest [monograph \[1/5\]](#) with following editorial details:

When God created the first humans and other living creatures, initially He so programmed their lives that they were ruled by the passage of the natural time of the universe - which time the new "totaliztic science" calls the "irreversible absolute time of the universe". This is because in just such time lives our God. (A wider discussion of this natural time is provided in item #C3 below on this web page.) But soon it turned out, that in this natural time God has NO control over lives of creatures that He created. Hence, this first human civilization began to develop in the direction that was unacceptable to God. Thus God was forced to destroy all those His first living creatures with the use of biblical Great Flood. In approximately a half of the duration of that Great Flood, God reprogrammed the bodies of the people (and all other living creatures that have DNA) for lives in a different, artificially pre-programmed for them by God, "reversible software time" - as this is described more thoroughly in sub-item #C4.1 and in item #C4 from the web page named immortality.htm, or in item #G4 from the web page named dipolar gravity.htm. In this artificially reprogrammed by God reversible software time everything is under God's control - even the amount of pain and suffering that each person must experience (as it is explained in items #C1 to #C9 from the web page named god_exists.htm), or even the history and fate of each truth (as it is explained in items #H1 to #H7 from the web page named prawda_uk.htm). Thus, in the new kind of time reprogrammed by Himself, God could govern precisely over the life and development of the humanity - so that He could achieve His superior goals. A feature of this reprogrammed by God "reversible software time" was that the general fate of the entire humanity and each individual person, have to be pre-programmed in advance in the form of so-called "omniplan" - which in item #C3 from the web page named immortality.htm is compared to an analogy of the movie film stored in the memory of a today's computer, or to a control program from today machine tools with numerical (computer) control. This "omniplan" by folklore is called "fate" or "destiny". Because of the existence of this "omniplan", one amongst the "by-products" of running the lives of people according to this "reversible software time" is that God has pre-planned in advance the scenario "what" happens both with the entire humanity, as well as with each individual person. (Although to be able to repetitively improve individual people and the entire humanity through the use of "iteration" described in item #C3 below, God continually improves this scenario pre-planned in advance.) God does NOT keep secret His knowledge of the future, but reveals it to people, amongst others, in the form of what we call "prophecies".

This web page is just dedicated to prophecies. Amongst others, it gives examples of old prophecies which soon after the Second World War were circulated among the more aged inhabitants of Poland. It also tries to emphasize the importance and the validity of prophecies, to explain way prophecies fulfil themselves, to reveal the mechanism of their formulation, and to indicate why we should take notice of whatever prophecies have to say. In turn, because the fulfilment of prophecies is only possible, when oppositely to erroneous claims of our official science, the fate of the entire physical world is ruled by these two drastically different kinds of time described above, and also because the actual fulfilment of prophecies is one amongst numerous empirical evidence (more thoroughly discussed in item #C4.1 from the web page named immortality.htm), that the fate of the humanity and Earth is really ruled by both these different kinds of time, in item #C3 of this web page is briefly described, amongst others, what are these two kinds of time and how they work.

Part #A: Introductory information about this web page:

#A1. What inspired me to write this web page:

I started to write this web page for several important reasons. Firstly because I noticed that present people typically are NOT aware of the existence and content of these old prophecies from the area of Poland. I know these prophecies from my childhood, as I used to listen to old people who were telling them. I still remember very well several out of them. So I decided to present them here in order to remind to others both, their content, as well as their cultural significance. Secondly, I noticed that many old prophecies just started to fulfil themselves. So I decided to indicate here the fact of their fulfilment, as a kind of "food for thoughts". Furthermore, I noticed that the reason why these prophecies are fulfilling right now, is the blindness of many people. So I hope that through realising what these prophecies state, I manage to cool down the rush and enthusiasm with which various people add their contribution towards the fast fulfilment of these rather scary prophecies.

#A2. This web page extends and supplements web pages with scientific proofs for the existence of God and for the existence of immortal soul:

According to logical deductions from the totaliztic web page immortality.htm - about the extending of human lives by repetitive shifting time back to years of our youth, events from the future can be known only in case when God does exist. After all, only God is able to develop and then consequently implement an intelligent plan for the course of events in the universe. In turn the universe deprived God must have all events occurring just purely at random, while course of events in such a random universe cannot be prophesied. Therefore this web page, which documents folklore prophecies together with the evidence that these prophecies actually do fulfil themselves, is also a supplement and an extension to the totaliztic web page god proof.htm - with the presentation of scientific evidence for the existence of God. In turn, by confirming additionally the existence of God, this web page also supports and extends the web page soul proof.htm - with the presentation of scientific evidence for the existence of immortal human soul.

#A3. Textbook of totalizm which presents some amongst prophecies described here:

These readers which prefer to read books rather than read web pages, probably will be pleased to know that there is an illustrated edition of the textbook of totalizm which takes the form of [monograph \[8/2\] entitled "Totalizm"](#). In subsection L4 from volume 8 of this monograph [8/2] are described and commented some amongst prophecies presented on this web page. To readers of that monograph [8/2] I recommend also volume 6 which presents findings of the theory of everything called the Concept of Dipolar Gravity about the nature and characteristics of God.

Part #B: What the Concept of Dipolar Gravity and the philosophy of totalizm tell us about prophecies:

#B1. What is the mechanism that governs the fulfilment of prophecies:

The matter which fascinates me most in prophecies, and which I would like to describe on this web page, is the manner in which these prophecies fulfil themselves. Namely, that the fulfilment of a prophecy always takes place in so humble and invisible manner, that the majority of people does NOT notice that these prophecies are fulfilling right now and in front of their own eyes. One feels like to repeat after the Bible they look but NOT see - see the Bible, "Acts" 28:26 "you will look and look, but not see"). This unnoticeable for normal sandwich-eaters fulfilment of old prophecies, is explained convincingly by the philosophy of totalizm. This philosophy states, that in His acting God cannot use movements which would disclose His power and existence. After all, any manifestation of Godly power would deprive people of their "free will" - they would have no other option but to believe in Him and to submit to Him. However, God wants to leave to the "free will" and to a choice of every person whatever this person wishes to do. But in order to leave to people this "free will", God must complete with hands of people even the most important historic events - to make them appear as if they are "natural" and "normal". This is why in the fulfilment of prophecies carried out by God, there are NO fireworks nor lighting flashes, nor supernatural phenomena. Everything happens quietly, humbly, naturally, in almost unnoticeable for us manner. (Means in a manner that is explained in more details in subsection JG2.1 from [volume 6 of monograph \[8e/2\]](#).) But whatever happens it unavoidably goes wherever prophecies foretold it to go.

An excellent illustration for interesting mechanism which rules the fulfilment of prophecies, including prophecies from the Bible, provides an old legend about the great flood. It originates from the east-southern coast of China. This legend was published as the legend number 67 under the title "The Great Flood", on pages 161 to 173 of a following book [7D3] by Wolfram Eberhard, entitled "Folktales of China" (Routledge & Kegan Paul, Ltd., London 1965, Library of Congress Catalogue Card Number 65-25440). Because of the evidential value of this legend, I already summarised it in subsection D3 from my [Polish monograph \[5/4\]](#) - the free copies of which are available from web pages of totalizm. Here is a summary of this interesting legend:

In a mountain village lived a woman and her son. She was more than fifty years old; her son, Chou Ch'eng, was exactly nineteen. They were very poor and earned their living by collecting firewood.

Every morning Chou Ch'eng hung his axe on his carrying pole and went into the mountains. Every day by midday he collected a large load of firewood, which he would take into the town to sell. With the money he received he would buy some rice and go home, where his mother would have dinner ready for him. He would put down his stick, and while he ate the meal he would tell his mother all that had happened during the day. By the time he had finished it would be nightfall and time to go to bed. The next morning he would go out for firewood as usual, and his mother would cook the rice bought the day before, eat some of it, and keep the rest for her son. In this manner the days go by.

One day Chou went to the hills as usual. His mother had finished dinner and was mending his clothes when she heard the loud clang of a gong ceaselessly beating outside. Putting down the clothes, she went to the door to see what it was, and there she found an old beggar monk. She said to him, "We are poor people and have no spare rice. You must go elsewhere." "Lord Buddha! I am so hungry," said the monk. "Please give me the rice you are saving in the pot."

The woman was frightened when she heard this, because the rice pot was standing in the house and he could not know what was in it. Fearing he might be a saint, she said to him, "The rice in the pot is really for my son. But if you are very hungry, I will give you it. Please wait for a moment." She went back into the house, put half the rice into a bowl, and brought it out to the monk.

While he was eating, he said to her, "I have something important to say to you. When your son Chou Ch'eng comes home, tell him to return to town and buy some sheet of paper and some flour, prepare some paste, and then stick some straw and the paper together to make a boat. When the eyes of the two lions in front of the big temple in the village become red, you must both get into the boat, because the land here will disappear and the town will be covered by a large lake. But remember this: if you see sparrows, ants, or snakes swimming in the water, you may save them; men or wolves, however, you must on no account assist. Do you understand?" Then he went away.

The woman looked up at the sun and, calculating from its place in the sky that her son would soon return, she went into the house, poured the rest of the rice to a bowl, and then went out again to watch out for his coming. Since there was no sign of him, she went in again and tidied up the clothes that she had mended; when he still did not come, she went and stood at the door.

The sun was slowly sinking behind the hills in the west. The birds who had already retired to their nests, were singing their bedtime songs. She became tired standing by the door, and was worried and anxious about her son.

Only when it was almost dark did she see him coming, and she felt as if a load had been lifted from her heart. She saw that he had a bag on his stick, and was pleased he was bringing the rice. "Hurry!" She called out. "Why are you so late today? After dinner I have some news for you." "I have already eaten," answered the son. "As I was coming home from the hills today, I met an old man who wanted to buy all my wood. He didn't ask the price, but wanted me to carry it back to his house, which was more than thirty li [about ten miles] away.

As I put down the load, I saw a delicious-looking meal standing on the table, which the old man invited me to partake of. At first I refused, but in the end he insisted on my eating, and being very hungry, I did take some. Afterwards, I was afraid he would give me no money, but in the end he gave me twice as much as I ordinarily received. When I told him that I had to go into town to buy rice, he suggested that I should buy a bushel of rice from him, and he gave me much more than usual." Chou Ch'eng pointed to his bag.

While they were talking, they went into the house. After putting down the bag, he asked his mother what had taken place at home during the day. She told him all about the beggar monk who had urged them to make a boat of straw and paper, but her son was sceptical and asked her, "How can a paper ship carry people?" "That is not our business," replied the mother. "This monk was really a saint, because otherwise how could he know you were called Chou Ch'eng and that there was still some rice in the pot?" Usually Chou agreed with his mother, but this evening he thought she was wrong.

However, the next morning Chou went into the town to buy the things and then came home to paste the ship together. Meanwhile his mother washed the rice and cooked one pot full, and then another to serve as provision on the boat. By midday the boat was ready, and Chou ran off to the temple to look at the lions' eyes; but seeing them as white as usual, he went home. Then he went again, but still there was no change to be seen. He returned again, until his mother said to him, "It is too late for them to become red today. Wait until tomorrow."

During the night neither could sleep well, and they got up long before the sun rose. Chou rubbed his eyes and ran off to the temple, while his mother packed the clothes and put them into the boat with the rice, a pot, a bowl, a basin, and a sieve, not even forgetting the old bed.

Repeatedly the son went to the temple, but the eyes were still not red. In the evening, as he was running there again, people asked him why he continually went there. Chou called out to them, as he hurried by, that he was going to see if the lions' eyes were red. Two young wags heard him say this, and thought to themselves, "What a fool Chou is! How can the lions' eyes become red? Let us paint them ourselves and see what he does."

When Chou went once more, and this time saw that the eyes were red, he rushed to tell his mother the news, helped her into the ship, and then went on board himself. Scarcely were they inside, when they heard an appalling crash, and on opening their eyes again, they saw nothing but water all around. Their craft however, was floating on the water just like a real ship, perhaps even quieter. However, it had no rudder and went wherever it wished. Chou was so horrified that he could barely utter a word. But his mother kept on murmuring, "So many people have met their death. What a disaster! The saint told me that if we saw a sparrow, a snake, or an ant swimming about, we could save them, but not a man or a wolf."

Chou saved several creatures that were floating near his boat. He also saved one man, named Wu Yi. Wu Yi claimed, that he is the only left alive from a family of five, because only he knew how to swim. Although there was no wind, their boat floated on the sea for entire night {probably carried away by tsunami waves}. They woke up the next morning when the sun was already high while their boat was lying on a shore of some mountainous island. After shifting to the land Chou build a new hut and return to his occupation of earning for living by collecting wood.

Well, the key event for fulfilment of the legend presented above was the change of colour (to red) of eyes of the lion. But this change did NOT occur in a manner as we would expect for the fulfilment of a prophecy, means spectacular just by itself, propelled by a miracle of some sort. Rather opposite, this change of colour happened silently, naturally and unnoticeably, one would think that only because several hooligans had nothing else to do - so they decided to paint these eyes for a joke. Of course, these hooligans did NOT know that they by themselves are just a small bolt in a huge mechanisms of the prophecy, and that they themselves have also their function to be fulfilled. Only that their function boiled down to painting, for a joke, eyes of lions to red, and then to dying a painful death in tsunami waves - so that a next generations could receive from God another moral lesson for learning and could have a meaningful example for describing it to others.

The legend presented above in my opinion contains a very important moral lesson which we should take notice of. This moral lesson states that "even the most important and great prophecies are fulfilling themselves through humble and ordinary events from everyday life". In the result many people, who are awaiting for fiery demonstrations and supernatural lightning flashes, and who expect that important prophecy has the right to fulfil only in such a manifesting manner, may even NOT notice that a given prophecy actually is fulfilling right now literally in front of their eyes.

By the way, the above legend by a strange coincidence is full of facts concerning a murderous tsunami induced technologically through exploding a UFO vehicle. For example, it describes an unique sound of thunder and roaring which accompany the arrival of such a tsunami. The occurrence of this extraordinary (powerful) roaring at the moment when tsunami hits, was described by a number of witnesses who lived through the tsunami of 26th December 2004 (i.e. the one which occurred along shores of the Indian Ocean and which is described on the web page day26.htm). Other equally evidential information contained in the above legend is the necessity to build the boat with roof and a need to manufacture this boat from water resistant paper mixed with vegetation fibres glued together with dough made from starch. (Today we would make it from some more modern materials, which would be equally hard and strong.) The point is that only such a boat with a roof made of very hard shell, which amongst others can be formed by laminating its casing from water resistant paper and fibres glued together with some powerful glue, is able to protect its content from the boiling water and from deadly splinters that are hurled by the powerful tsunami. For example, in the Malaysian press, which at the beginning of January 2005 was describing reports of these people who managed to survive the tsunami of 26th December 2004, there was a story of a family, which saved itself from almost a sure death, only because just before the arrival of water torrent full of splinters - which normally dismembered victims of this tsunami, this family jumped inside of empty wooden barrels in which they locked themselves. Hard shells of these barrels protected them against being dismembered by splinters, while the ability of wooden barrels to float prevented their drowning. In my personal opinion, the above legend describes actual event and actual saving of someone from tsunami that really took place. Only that through repetitions of this story from a generation to a generation it took the form of a legend. Furthermore, this supernatural creature that simulated an UFO naut who knew the future and thus also knew exactly what is going to happen, that most probably appeared in the real event, either impersonated a Buddhist monk, or in subsequent repetitions of this "legend" was taken to be a Buddhist monk.

#B2. Why prophecies must fulfil

themselves in an unnoticeable manner:

For me personally, and also probably for many other people that are used to seek answers to questions which bother them, the extremely vital becomes the source of so significant discrepancy between our personal wishes and reality. In our personal wishes we would like biblical prophecies fulfilled in a fiery and spectacular manner. But in reality these prophecies fulfil in a humbly, natural, and almost unnoticeable manner. In my opinion, this discrepancy results from a natural mechanism, with the use of which prophecies are formulated. In this mechanism, the content of prophecy was formulated by ordinary people, not by God or by some supernatural creatures. God only let to know this ordinary people what is going to happen in the future. (In past such an insight into the future was called "visions". Presently we probably would call it e.g. the use of time vehicles in order to temporally "shift in time to future".) Such an insight in past was given to many people, for example one of them was famous Nostradamus. After seeing the future these people then described for us what they saw in there. In this manner a prophecy was born.

Naturally, whatever was seen by people who are preparing a given prophecy after they were shifted to the future, these people are going to describe with their own words, and with the use of terminology that was available in their times. So let us analyse now how this practically looked like. After all, such an analysis is going to explain where comes from this discrepancy between our expectations and the real life. (Means, why we expect spectacular fulfilment of prophecies, while these prophecies actually fulfil in a humble and unnoticeable manner.) And so, for example, when Nostradamus was shifted to a battle-field with the Hitler army and saw a fight of tanks in there, he described these tanks as "iron wagons". After all, he knew only horse wagons. In his times tanks were NOT invented yet. In turn, when an ancient Israeli shifted temporally to our times, described the "personal serial identification number" imposed onto people by politicians and required practically for every formality, he described it as the "number of the beast". Still when another person arriving to the future, noticed e.g. that time vehicles described on the web page immortality.htm - about immortality and life without end, allow to return to life people who were dead before, he would described in his prophecy that the day is to come when "dead people will resurrect".

Of course, all the above is just my personal guess how this preparation of prophecies could look like. How it really looked, we do NOT know. However, analysis similar to the above allow us to understand, that behind prophecies does NOT hide, nor has a right to hide, a precise description of something prepared by someone who knows the terminology, conditions of living, and situation from the future. Means, descriptions of these people should NOT be taken literally. After all, prophecies are formulated with wording which are known to ancient people who prepared them. Thus they are allegoric. This means that in order to know when and how given prophecies are fulfilling, we firstly must interpret them to our present language, situation, and reality. In turn when we learn how to carry out such interpretations, then with a shock we discover, that nothing vital ever happens as a complete surprise. Everything is foretold in advance in various manners. In turn, the superior being of the universe which we call God (the philosophy of totalizm calls Him the "universal intellect"), would NOT go through the trouble of foretelling to us whatever is going to happen, if He does NOT intend to consider later somehow in His further actions the consequences of this foretelling. According to my findings, this superior being (God) uses prophecies in order to shape the consequences of whatever inevitably is coming, appropriately to our reaction to a given prophecy! This in turn leads me to a main message of this web page. Namely this message states. We need to take notice of prophecies. We should try to understand what it is warning us against, and what we should do in order to minimise the evil that is going to result from it. This is because from our reaction to a given prophecy depends how the incoming evil is going to affect us, and how it is going to influence our future fate.

Part #C: The "Number of the Beast":

#C1. How this "Number of the Beast" from Apocalypse just reveals itself to us:

Thoughts which I would like to share here were provoked by problems which I encountered for some time starting from 2004, only because I was then unable to provide authorities with some number, which in my understanding was my "Number of the Beast". YES! Just this "Number of the Beast" which is described in the Bible, in the book of "Revelation 13:16-18", where on its subject is written, quote: "The beast forced all the people, small and great, rich and poor, slave and free, to have a mark placed on their right hands or on their foreheads. No one could buy or sell unless he had this mark, that is, the beast's name or the number that stands for the name. This calls for wisdom. Whoever is intelligent can figure out the meaning of the number of the beast. because the number stands for a man's name. Its number is 666." Well, according to the Bible, in times shortly before the most important breakthrough in history of the Earth, this number receives almost every person on the Earth and will be required to show it on almost every occasion. The number becomes absolutely necessary for completion of practically every operation. Even the purchase of daily bread will NOT be possible without having this number. As it turned out, in past I just had serious problems, because I still was unable to prove that I have this number assigned to me. On the other hand we know that the use of such number is gradually spreading all over the world. As an example consider "IRD" number from New Zealand, "social security number" from the USA, "IC" number from Malaysia, or "PESEL" number from Poland. To be worse, the showing of this number is required in present times in ever increasing life situations.

#C2. Why the "number of beast" is a sign and a confirmation for us that just times arrived when biblical prophecies are fulfilling themselves:

What puzzles me in the "Number of the Beast", is that independently from the country in the world, everywhere in the initial form this number has exactly the same format. Namely, everywhere it started from the date of birth of a given person (i.e. year, month, day), followed by some other number. To be more intriguing, such a format this number has not only in Christian countries, such as Poland (i.e. "PESEL"), but also in Islamic countries, such as Malaysia (i.e. "IC"). Most clearly this "Beast" which imposed the number onto people, is above governments of countries, since it is able to influence a whole range of different countries in the world, imposing on all of them the same system of numbering people! It would be interesting to check what format has the number which each one of us carries in the "identification implant" placed in our shin bone, the photograph of a mark from which is shown at the beginning of the web page ufo.htm - about UFOonauts.

In recent times various organisations were established in many countries of the world, the goal of which is to fight actions of their governments of the type of the "Number of the Beast". Means to fight with a gradual erosion of human freedoms and rights. But this is a hopeless fight. Step-by-step this invisible "Beast" enslaves us increasingly tight into chains of various laws, requirements, and governmental control. In this manner from relatively free citizens it turns us gradually into slaves of our own country. How far this enslaving of us already went, we can learn when we look around carefully. An idea about the seriousness of this situation present the totaliztic web page named the better humanity in which I am trying to indicate some ways of repairing our situation indicated by the philosophy of totalizm. The subject of the "Number of the Beast" lately is intriguing me a lot. After all, this number is the last "missing link" in the realisation that we already are living in years when Biblical prophecies begin to fulfil. Who would think that such a "honour" is granted to our generation. So many God-fearing generations of people lived on the Earth before us, reading the Bible, believing in every word of it, and looking for arrival of times when Biblical prophecies would fulfil themselves. But strangely, these prophecies would NOT fulfil for them. On the other hand, our present generation in a great majority neither reads the Bible nor believes in words of the Bible, and it is this generation that lives in such extraordinary times. The arrival of these times is foretold by practically everything around us. If we look at television news, then it is obvious that already for a long time the Earth is trotted by the "Raiders of Apocalypse" - see item #J1 below. After all, the recent hurricanes, tornadoes, destructive rains, landslips, fires, volcano eruptions, earthquakes, tsunami waves, collapses of roofs in public halls, locust swarms almost on every continent, all these are deeds of such "Raiders of Apocalypse". Also, exactly as the Bible foretold this, in the world lawlessness and immorality are ruling. We also have the "Number of the Beast" indicated in item #C1 above. According to various signs on heaven and the Earth, as I wrote this in items #G2 and #G1 below (and also reported in subsection A4 from [monograph \[1/4\]](#), as well as in subsection L4 from the [second edition of monograph \[8e/2\] "Totalizm"](#)), since 1999 on the Earth probably Second Jesus is acting. Only that in order to NOT be crucified again by omnipresent heretics, clearly this time he arrived "like a thief" and is forced to act exclusively from hiding - as the Bible foretold this. (The evidence which seems to confirm the activities of Second Jesus on the Earth includes, amongst others, the miraculous revelation from Christchurch and from Borneo - described in items #G2 and #G1 in further part of this web page.) The only thing that is still missing in order old prophecies from the Bible fulfilled completely, is the arrival of Antichrist and him taking the rule over the Earth. But even he is already foretold by some people that supposedly he is to arrive to the Earth in a near future. He supposed to be a creature which is going to look like Jesus from holy pictures, but which is going to show tricks even greater than our magician David Copperfield. However, he will lead the humanity to a destruction. (In fact, at the end of 2005 in Nepal a strange creature appeared, which could be him. This creature is described on the web page named antichrist.htm.)

#C3. How the number 666 confirms the continuous, iteration-based improvement of the mankind by God, carried out through the use of "omniplan" for managing the "reversible software time":

Since the time of invention (or discovery) of my Periodic Table of Earth's Propulsion Systems (i.e. the table briefly described in item #H1.1 from this web page, while thoroughly discussed in item #B1 from the separate web page named propulsion.htm), I unsuccessfully try to convince various institutions and nations that they should undertake the construction of "Time Vehicles" of my invention. After all, these vehicles allow people to infinitively extend human lives through shifting people back to years of their youth each time after they reach an old age. In addition, Time Vehicles are absolutely necessary for people to understand God, content of the Bible, and the world around us - as it is illustrated, amongst others, in "part #H" from the web page named immortality.htm, while reasons for this state of things are explained in introduction, item #A1, and sub-item #C4.1 from that web page "immortality.htm", or in item #G4 from the web page dipolar gravity.htm.

There are probably many reasons why these my efforts turn out to be ineffective - as it is explained in item #H1.1 below on this web page. One of these reasons is probably a philosophical immaturity of today's scientists and decision-makers, who continue to believe that the entire physical world is ruled just by one natural time, which the new "totaliztic science" calls the "irreversible absolute time of the universe" - means who believe, that the entire universe is ruled by just one natural time in which at present lives only God, and which I described briefly in the introduction to this web page, while more thoroughly I explained, amongst others, in sub-item #C4.1 and in items #C3 and #C4 from other my web page named immortality.htm, and in item #G4 from the web page named dipolar gravity.htm. After all, these beliefs of scientists and decision makers do NOT allow them to accept and to acknowledge the evidence and experiments, which are presented on the web page named immortality.htm and which conclusively documented that in fact the physical world is ruled by two drastically different kinds of time, while people live only in this unnatural (artificially programmed) "reversible software time" which does NOT exist in nature and therefore which had to be pre-programmed by God, and in which time it is possible to build my "Time Vehicles" for repetitive shifting people back to years of their youth. (These my evidence is doubted, in spite that a large part of it is derived from the Bible - and thus directly from God.) In this item #C3 I am to add yet one more example of evidence confirming that in fact we do live in this slowly elapsing in short jumps, "reversible software time" artificially pre-programmed by God, not in the fast and smoothly elapsing natural "irreversible absolute time of the universe", which according to the Bible elapses around 365 thousands of time faster than our "reversible software time", in which at present lives only God - while in the physical world which rules only over ageing of inanimate matter (e.g. rocks or bones of dinosaurs), and our supposed living in which is claimed by the official science to-date - for details see item #C4.1 from the abovementioned web page immortality.htm. This yet another example of the evidence for the lives of all people in the artificially programmed by God "reversible software time" is the number "666" given in the Bible as the "number of the Beast".

The reason for which the specific set 666 of digits indicated in the Bible, is a further proof that we lead our lives in the artificially programmed by God "reversible software time" (means, NOT in a naturally existing "irreversible absolute time of the universe" - as erroneously tells that to us the official science), is the manner in which the divine software entity called "omniplan" (this one described in item #H1.1 below on this web page) manages the "reversible software time", so that it is possible for God to continuously improve the quality of the physical world. Namely, the improvement of the physical world with the help of "omniplan" can be done only through the use of a method called "iteration". This method depends on the fact, that God repeats many times the life of every person, by shifting him or her in time to years of his or her youth - as this is admitted by God in the Biblical verse which is discussed in item #B4.1 from my web page named immortality.htm. During each such shifting back in time God also erases thoroughly his or her previous memory, so that this person is NOT aware that previously already experienced the passage through a given period of time in his or her life. Then God permits this person to re-live his or her life again in already somewhat improved conditions and life circumstances. As a result of the use of this method of "iteration" for the improvement of the physical world, almost everything that, both, happened in the past and will happen in the future, is in the state of continuous changes and "flux" - aggravated even more by the fact that these people shifted back in time always have their "free will" in their selection how in this new passage through life they are to react to given (new) conditions and improved life situations. (Notice here, that these situations are repetitively "improved" according to the so-called "principle of reversals" described, amongst others, in item #B1.1 from the web page antichrist.htm - which allows a much better fulfilment of God's superior goals. Thus, from the point of view of people who love being "spoiled", these situations do NOT need to be perceived as any "better".) In total, in spite that this divine "omniplan" contains a general plan for "what" is to happen, and in spite that this general plan has already been communicated to the people in the form of "prophecies" and contents of the holy books, in fact until the "end of the world" is NOT crystallized definitively "when" certain events are to occur, nor "who" amongst the people will cause them, or "how" they will affect every other human being. After all, everything is in a state of constant improvements, changes and "flux". In fact I already had an opportunity to notice and to describe in my publications changes of a huge number of things that present official science considers to be unchangeable. It is also sure, that to repetitive improvements and changes are subjected also things the changes of which so-far I was unable to notice, e.g. laws of physics and nature, structure of matter and cosmos, history of humanity, etc.

These continuous changes and "flux" resulting from the "iterative" improvement of the world by God, cause that at the time when the Bible was written, there was NOT known definitively what exactly will this "number of the Beast". However, in His infinite wisdom, God knew that in times when the "mark of the Beast" will govern over human lives, all the matters of every person will be described by thousands of different important numbers. After all, already now the life of every person is described by several hundreds of important numbers - for example, by dates of birth and dates of significant life events, phone numbers, numbers of identity cards, passports, membership cards, etc., numbers as American "Social Security" (or Polish "PESEL"), registration numbers of cars and other vehicles owned, bank account numbers, numbers of archives in various Institutions, official numbers of cases, significant numbers for payments (e.g. tax numbers), numbers of address and details of houses, gates and flats, IP numbers of computers, etc., etc. In turn from statistics it is known that in virtually every thousand of such numbers should occur at least one number containing the set of digits 666. As a result, at a time when the "number of the Beast" becomes important, because of this presence in the life of every person of these thousands of various important numbers, virtually every person will be identified by at least one number which is to contain the set of digits "666". At the time of inspiring the content of Bible, in His infinite wisdom and foresight God already knew about this - so He actually introduced to the Bible this information. (Notice here, that instead of the number 666, God could use any specific, easy-to-remember, three-digit number. After all, in the future every specific three-digit long number will be present in some significant number describing each person.)

An additional advantage of the Bible indicating of the specific and meaningful number, such as 666, as the "number of the Beast", is also that the availability of it in the documentation of virtually every person, allows in the future to hail to be Antichrist any person whose lifetime achievements turn to be more convenient if just described as the action of "Antichrist". After all, according to the educational method of God, described under the name of the "principle of reversals" in item #F3 from my web page wszewilki_uk.htm, the more one's lifetime achievements increase the true knowledge and awareness of the humanity, the more it must be prevented, persecuted, and deviated. (According to the action of this "principle of reversals", in fact in the interest of God lies only the promotion of everything that is harmful to the mankind - for example, the promotion of the theory of Darwin or Einstein, paintings of Picasso, the promotion of any artist or sportsman who glorifies immorality, etc., etc. – as described e.g. in item #H6 from the web page prawda_uk.htm.) Thus, hailing someone as "Antichrist" is a highly effective and inexpensive way to discourage people from recognizing whatever works to their advantage, whatever builds them up, and whatever is very much needed by them. It would NOT surprise me at all, if only in order to delay the construction of my Magnocrafts or my Time Vehicles, one day, also under some pretext I am hailed as "Antichrist" - although it probably will be difficult to find another scientist on Earth who has accomplished equal to mine academic achievements that allow people for a better understanding of their God and for gaining the proof-based certainty of God's existence. After all, the collection of insults and epithets which already are pelt at me, at my academic achievements, and at numerous my inventions, since a long time include almost everything that imagination of immoral people managed to invent so far.

The fact that already thousands of years ago God knew and announced in prophecies to people, that during the reign of the Biblical "Beast", virtually every person will be described by at least one significant number containing in itself the sequence 666 of digits, is also a further evidence, that our physical world is ruled by this "reversible software time", and thus that my "Time Vehicles" can certainly be built. After all, for ever coming true what God has planned long ago, our world must be governed and improved with the use of this software entity called "omniplan" (described, amongst others, in items #C4 and #C3 from my web page named immortality.htm). But what is even more important, the fact that people are living in the "reversible software time" managed with the help of the divine "omniplan", is also a conclusive and irrefutable proof that God exists, and that people have immortal souls. After all, this unnatural "reversible software time" could NOT appear just by itself in our physical world, but it had to be intentionally programmed by a being so wise and so mighty as our God is. On other hand, in order God is able to improve people through the iteration-based, repetitive shifting them back to years of their youth, these people must have appropriate programs stored in their software souls which control their passage through this reversible time. In other words, because "reversible software time" is a highly artificial creation that does NOT exist in nature, and thus which had to be intentionally pre-programmed by the superior intelligent being with the knowledge and capabilities of God, the fact that indeed we are all living in that reversible time is a proof that God does exist, and the proof that our passages through this time is ruled by special divine programs stored in our "souls". So in the time when humanity will build my "Time Vehicles", and thus experimentally and illustratively prove to everyone that we actually do live in that "reversible software time" artificially pre-programmed by God, then instead of simply believing in the existence of God, each person receives a visually visible proof that God does exist. Thus, in those times, "knowledge will replace today's beliefs" (as we know, knowledge is better than beliefs, because one can always stop believing, but one NEVER stops to know).

The actual fulfilment of prophecies has also a reversal evidential value to the one described above. After all, it is as well another empirical proof complementing the long list described in item #C4.1 from the web page immortality.htm, that our physical world is ruled simultaneously by two drastically different kinds of time which I described here. In turn, because this non-existing in nature "reversible software time", that allows God the implementation of prophecies, could appear in our world only because it was artificially pre-programmed by God, such a fulfilment of prophecies is also another proof for the existence of God.

Of course, readers of this item do NOT need to await until the time of building my "Time Vehicles" for gaining a visual proof and scientific certainty that God does exist and that people really live in that artificially pre-programmed by God "reversible software time". (After all, the arrival of that time is still quite distant - as is clear from the explanations in item #H1.1 below.) This is because, if their mind is already open to the truth, then the large body of evidence and experiments which document that we really live in that unnatural "reversible software time", they will find on my web page named immortality.htm - e.g. see in there item #D1 or sub-item #C4.1. But in order to not force the reader to search through that web page and already here indicate at least one example of probably the most widely sighted (although rarely noticed) amongst such evidence, this evidence is the difference in speeds with which rocks and the humanity are ageing. After all, rocks do NOT have DNA. In turn, as described on that web page, in all living creatures DNA are kinds of natural computers which control journeys of these creatures through the reversible software time. Hence, by not having DNA, rocks age in accordance with the passage through the natural "irreversible absolute time of the universe" - in which time also lives and acts our God. This natural time of the universe do NOT elapses in short jumps, as it does our artificial "reversible software time" - in which between every two jumps appears a very long break. Thus, according to the verse 3:8 from biblical "2 Peter" (discussed in sub-item #C4.1 from the web page "immortality.htm"), this natural absolute time of the universe elapses with the speed of around 365 thousands of time faster than our artificial "reversible software time". In the result of this shockingly fast elapse of the absolute time, rocks, fossils (e.g. bones of dinosaurs) and all minerals, age around 365 thousands of time faster than people. IN many cases this allows to more alerted people noticing with naked eyes such a fast ageing of soft rocks which previous appearance they remembered well. Also no wonder that in dating carried out by the old so-called "atheistic orthodox science", rocks supposedly exist already for millions of human years - because their ageing takes place in accordance with this fast "irreversible absolute time of the universe", while people age accordingly with the slowly elapsing "reversible software time". For example, I myself with my own eyes saw (and described in my publications indicated in item #C4.1 from the web page "immortality.htm") various examples of how the rocks, that I saw just a few years earlier and the prior appearance I remembered exactly, in just a few of those years of my life aged to the level, the achievement of which should take them many millions of years. Similar evidence of extremely rapid aging of the known rocks reported to me others more observant people. In turn all living creatures, including humans, already contain DNA that controls their journey through this unnatural reversible time - as this is explained comprehensively on the web page named immortality.htm, while briefly summarises item #G4 from the web page dipolar gravity.htm. Thus, the speed of aging of everything that lives in this "reversible software time", including each one of us as well as e.g. the entire human civilisation taken as a whole, is many times slower than the rate of aging of rocks. After all, the time of each of us and all of the humanity has these long pauses between subsequent jumps, and also is continually shifted back by God, improved, refined, revised, etc. No wonder that the history of human civilization has only about 6,000 years of that reversible software time - no matter whether the dating results from the correctly documented research of the old, official, "atheistic orthodox science", or from analyses of data and dates provided for us in the Bible by God.

Part #D: "For as long as the land of Slavonic Pruses is supervised by the Madonna of Teutonic Knights, the German language is to prevail on this land":

#D1. The old prophecy about the Madonna of Teutonic Knights already fulfilled itself once:

In the niche of the castle church from Malbork in Poland, a huge figure of Madonna of Teutonic Knights used to stand since Medieval times. To this figure was linked an old prophecy which stated that for as long as the land of Slavonic Pruses is supervised by the Madonna of Teutonic Knights, the German language is to prevail on this land. (Note that "Pruses" is the name assigned to Slavic tribes of pagans that used to live in North-East corner of Poland. Under the excuse of conversion to Christianity they were annihilated by mainly German "Teutonic Knights".) So-far this prophecy fulfilled itself already once. This is because the German language really diminished on the land of Slavonic Pruses immediately after in a mysterious and still unexplained explosion from the last days of the World War Two, the castle church, together with this figure of medieval Madonna, were erased from face of the Earth.

More information about this old figure of Teutonic Knights and the ancient Polish prophecy linked to it, can be found in parts #C to #F (i.e. see in there items

#C1 to #F3) from the totaliztic web page malbork.htm - about mysteries and curiosities of the Teutonic Knights' castle in Malbork.

Fig. #D1abc: Here is how old photographs portray the stucco statue of Virgin Mary from the church in Malbork Castle. About this statue exists an old Polish prophecy stating that "on lands of Slavonic Pruses which are overlooked by this statue, the German language is to prevail for as long as long this statue watches these lands". This old prophecy already fulfilled itself once. As we know this statue was mysteriously destroyed at the end of Second World War. Simultaneously the German language diminished on lands of Slavic Pruses which this statue supervised. But in 2007 a group of Polish citizens organised in a foundation named Mater Dei unilaterally (and extremely unwisely) decided to let us experience whether this prophecy fulfils itself again. These Polish citizens initiated a vigorous action to restore this statue. So we will have the opportunity to see whether, after the statue is restored, also the power of the old Polish prophecy linked to this statue is to return. Means, whether the German language returns to this land. The first supernatural acts of this just restored statue already started to be manifested. These acts boil down to court orders taking away lands and homes from present Polish owners and giving these back to former German owners, and also on sending illness to the opposing of rebuilding this statue. Descriptions of these new supernatural acts of that statue are provided in items #C6 and #F1 to #F3 of the web page malbork.uk.htm. (Click on the selected photograph if you wish to enlarge it.)

As these photographs illustrate it, the statue of the Malbork Madonna was modelled in the positioning that represents the expansion and control over lands that this statue overlooks. Thus it symbolised perfectly the intentions of Teutonic Knights who erected this statue, enforcing with its supernatural powers the aggressive activities of the Teutonic Knights. So if this ill-omened statue is restored in present times, for the security and the prophecy reasons its aggressive and hostile position should be intentionally changed (as the philosophy of totalizm and also the Chinese feng shui advices this to us - see item #C5 on the totaliztic web page malbork.htm - about mysteries and curiosities of the Teutonic Knights' castle in Malbork), thus making it to symbolise and reinforce with its supernatural powers the present situation of the lands that it supervises. How to accomplish this task is explained in item #C5 mentioned above.

published by Albert Frisch from Berlin. It shows the head of this figure, with Holy Infant Jesus sitting on her hands. For more details about this photo see web pages zamek.malbork.com.pl, zamek.malbork.pl, and przewodnicy.com.

(b) Central photograph in fact is a single frame from an old German film entitled "Land an der Weichsel" by von Caengel, from 1943. An extremely interesting is that both, the Virgin Mary, as well as the Holy Infant from this figure, had the characteristic "triangular faces" and "buttock-like" bulges on their chins - means anatomic features which are typical for UFO-nauts - as this is explained more comprehensively in caption under "Fig. #2" from the web page ufo.htm, and the caption under "Fig. #1" from the web page antichrist.htm. So it looks like the above figure was created because sometimes ago a female UFO-naut impersonated Virgin Mary and the Holy Infant Jesus.

(c) Right photograph originates from the German so-called "War Series", and was published by the Deutsche Kunstverlag in Berlin around 1940. It shows the entire statue of the Virgin Mary together with the bay in the church elevation in which this statue was located.

#D2. Soon we all are going to have opportunity to watch whether this old prophecy fulfils itself again:

In 2007 a group of Polish citizens organized in the foundation Mater Dei voluntarily took an unilateral decision to restore this old Madonna of Teutonic Knights - see the description under "Fig. #D1" above. Me personally their actions resemble these yells of ancient Israelites at the time of judging Jesus - when Israelites voluntarily accepted the blood of Jesus to fall on them and on their descendants (see the Bible, Matthew 27:25 - "The whole crowd answered, 'Let the responsibility for his death fall on us and on our children'."). Of course, after the figure is restored we all will have the opportunity to watch whether the old prophecy linked to it again fulfils itself - i.e. whether the German language is again going to prevail on Slavs' lands of ancient Pruses. Of course, it does NOT take a prophet to foresee, that if this language really returns over there propelled by powers of the awoken supernatural, then this practically is going to mean the end of peace and stability not only for Poland, but also for the entire Europe, and the arrival to the Earth of another period of troubles, tormenting, fights, wars, and everyday nightmare for ordinary people. After all, there is no such thing as "local problems" from the middle of Europe. "Local European" problems always turn out to be problems of the entire world - as they affect inhabitants of the entire globe.

#D3. Instead of incarnating the soul of the hostile to Poles medieval Madonna created by Teutonic Knights, more rational would be to build a new Madonna which would receive a new soul with more friendly attitude towards Poland and Poles:

At a separate web page named soul_proof.htm is explained, that every physical object has intelligent so-called "soul". In turn this "soul" has its own personality, habits, memory, history, etc., which it tries to exercise through the physical object in which it resides. In case of the Madonna from Malbork her soul was hostile towards Poles. Thus the restoration of that Madonna is going to cause the return (or incarnation to the statue) of the same old soul with medieval attitude which is hostile towards Poles. This in turn means the return of serious troubles for the entire region - and thus also for the rest of Europe. Therefore, much more rational would be to design a completely new Madonna - as this is explained in item #C5 of the web page malbork_uk.htm. Such a new Madonna would also receive a new soul - which would already be nice and friendly towards creators of it, means towards Poland and Poles.

Part #E: "The spark is to emerge from Poland":

#E1. "The spark is to come out from Poland" - means a conditional promise from God and the overenthusiastic translation of it into unconditional prophecy:

Probably the most commonly known foretelling of the possibility that a massive transformation of humanity can just be coming to the Earth, is the conditional promise from God Himself stating, amongst others, that "the spark is to emerge from Poland". This conditional promise God Himself reveal to the blessed Helena Kowalska - widely known as the "sister Faustyna" (at present already a Polish saint). The literal wording of this conditional promise, and also circumstances of revealing it, are provided in the statement number 1732 from "Diary of that sister Faustyna", published in Poland as a brochure [1#E1] with the following editorial data: author - blessed s.M. Faustyna Kowalska, title (in Polish) - "Dzienniczek. Miłosierdzie Boże w duszy mojej", publisher - Wydawnictwo Księży Marianów, Warszawa 1996. God expressed this conditional promise through words - quote from that statement number 1732 in my own translation: "I do love Poland especially, and if it (i.e. Poland) is obedient to my will, then I will uplift it (Poland) in the power and holiness. It will be from it that the spark will emerge which will prepare the world for my final arrival." (In original Polish language: "Polskę szczególnie umiłowalem, a jeśli posłuszna będzie woli mojej, wywyższę ją w potęgę i świętości. Z niej wyjdzie iskra, która przygotowuje świat na ostateczne przyjście moje.")

This promise from God was later published and discussed in many written sources. For example, amongst others it is discussed on page 160 of the Italian Book about the pope John Paul the Second, the Polish edition [2#E1] of which carries the following editorial data: Antonio Socci, "Tajemnice Jana Pawła II" (the title of Italian original "I segreti di Karol Wojtyła"), Dom Wydawniczy RAFAEL, Kraków 2009, ISBN 978-83-7569-139-9.

Although this promise from God was revealed shortly before the Second World War, because in 1938, the message of it spread fast throughout the entire Poland. Only that in the enthusiasm of spreading it, Poles changed it from a conditional promise of God having the format "if ... then ...", into an erroneously declared unconditional prophecy that "the spark is to emerge from Poland". I heard this erroneously announced (because unconditional) prophecy many times already during my childhood - means soon after the Second World War. In my personal opinion, it is unfortunate, that the majority of people learned it only as such unconditional prophecy. After all, such unconditional form discourages Poles to "earning the fulfilment of it" through meeting the God's condition that stated "if it (i.e. Poland) is obedient to my will". But God expressed this clearly - if the Polish nation will NOT deserve that "the spark emerges from Poland", then the spark is to emerge from a different country. Thus, fulfilment of this promise from God is conditional and the honour of it Poles must firstly earn. Therefore, I would recommend that in every case of mentioning this promise from God, an information is always added that God placed the condition on its fulfilment. This is because only when everyone is going to be aware of the existence of such condition, then perhaps will contribute own effort into fulfilling it.

This conditional promise from God that "the spark emerges from Poland" links directly incoming transformations in people's views of the world with something that eventuates in Poland - as I believe with the raise of the philosophy of totalizm. This direct link between the conditional promise from God and the philosophy of totalizm can be deducted from the use of words in this promise. Namely, the promise uses the word "spark", not for example the word "leader", or "defender", or "liberator", or "hurricane", or "horse", or "ship", etc. In turn we know that a "spark" is always to ignite and to seed a "flame" and "light".

On the other hand "flame" and "light" are always associated with knowledge and intellectual "enlightenment" - means with a better, newer, more true and more correct view of the world. This is why the expression "a spark is to emerge from Poland" is referring to the seed of revolutionary changes in philosophies, sciences, and religions of the entire humanity, that are expected to come soon to the Earth. So this conditional promise from God perfectly fits in the role the fulfilment of which is offered by the philosophy of totalizm described in volumes 1 to 3 of monograph [\[8/2\] entitled "Totalizm"](#). In addition, this conditional promise from God ideally matches the role that is performed by the theory of everything called the Concept of Dipolar Gravity and explained in volumes 4, 5 and 6 of that [monograph \[8p/2\]](#).

About the fact that this "spark" supposed to be some idea, not e.g. a "leader" or a "military offensive", certifies also another example of old Polish folklore believes expressed on page 29 of the book [\[3#E1\]](#) by Jan Kwaśniewski, Marek Chyliński, "Dieta Optymalna", second edition, Prasa Śląska, Katowice, Poland, 1997. This example states, (in my free translation to English): "for the astonishment of all nations of the world, from Poland is to emerge the hope of tormented humanity" (in the original Polish wording: "ku zdumieniu wszystkich narodów świata z Polski wyjdzie nadzieja udręczonej ludzkości"). If one considers it thoroughly, to be simultaneously a "spark" and a "hope", something can only be ----an idea such as "totalizm" or the "Concept of Dipolar Gravity".

#E2. The condition of God "if it (i.e. Poland) is obedient to my will" placed on the promise that the "spark will come out from Poland":

Most clearly already in times of revealing this conditional promise that "the spark is to come out from Poland", the wise and far-sighted God knew perfectly well that during years from around 1995 to around 2020 Poland will be ruled by generations of "Midases in reverse" described in items #I5 and #I6 from the totaliztic web page tapanui.htm. God also predicted already then that these "Midases in reverse" will push Poland into claws of highly immoral and destructive philosophy of parasitism described, amongst others, in items #B1 to #B7 of the web page seismograph.htm. This probably is why His promise God expressed in a conditional manner. Poland and Poles must earn it with their moral behaviour and listening to commands of conscience - as this is required by the obedience towards the will of God.

The analysis of present attitude of Poland and Poles towards the philosophy of totalizm and towards the "theory of everything" called the Concept of Dipolar Gravity - from which totalizm emerged, reveal an extremely strange behaviour. Namely, if really totalizm and this "theory of everything" supposed to become the "spark", then in my opinion Poles with the ferocity of a pack of wolves just right now "murder" their last chance to ever have the spark that come out from their country. It is enough to look in the Internet at addresses linked in item #E2 from the web page faq.htm, to notice what representatives of Poland write about totalizm, how they attack this philosophy (and theory), how scoff at it and how spit over it, and how rarely any Pole speaks good about totalizm or defends it, to gain a certainty that such "murdering of totalizm" and such "killing of the Concept of Dipolar Gravity" is just taking place. I will not elaborate here on the matter which is explained in chapter R from monograph [\[5/4\] \(PDF format\)](#) - namely that Poland and Poles disowned and turned back to the author of these ideas - means did exactly what deplores verse 1:6-10 from the Biblical Evangel of St. John (reminded in the introduction to the web page god.htm). (Here is the quotation of this verse: "There came a man who was sent from God; his name was John. He came as a witness to testify concerning that light, so that through him all men might believe. He himself was not the light; he came only as a witness to the light. The true light that gives light to every man was coming into the world. He was in the world, and though the world was made through him, the world did not recognize him. He came to that which was his own, but his own did not receive him.") So at the moment everything seems to indicate that this particular "spark is NOT going to come out from Poland".

About the fact, that God is NOT happy at all with the behaviour of Poles, and even indicates the increasingly greater anger towards inhabitants of Poland, certifies also the statement number 1188, that the saint "Sister Faustyna" made in her "Diary" [1#E1]. This statement says, quote from [1#E1]: "I frequently pray for Poland, but I also see the growing anger of God at it, because it is ungrateful. I mobilise the entire my soul to defend it. I continually remind God His promises of forgiveness. When I see His anger, I throw myself with the trust from the cliff of forgiveness and with it I protect the entire Poland, so that God is then unable to use His arm of justice. My fatherland, how much you cost me, there is no day that I would not pray for you." The above quotation, in connection with explanation of the significance of these "ten righteous" in holding back the arrival of "God's punishment" - as described in items #B6 and #B5 from the totaliztic web page seismograph.htm, explains to us exactly why, as so-far, there were no more serious natural disasters in Poland, of the kind of ones which recently are troubling almost the entire rest of the world. The question, which however should be asked, is what is going to happen to Poland when these "ten righteous" is to die out as the time elapses, while Poles will NOT mobilise themselves to upbringing successors for them.

#E3. If "the spark is to come out from Poland" then also "Poland is to spread from the sea to the sea":

The conditional promise from God described above contains another expression "I will uplift it (Poland) in the power and holiness". In this way it relates to a conditional possibility that yet another old Polish prophecy will also be fulfilled. This another prophecy stated that one day "Poland is to spread from the sea to the sea". (This means that Poland is to return to its former power, significance, and to its previous size when its borders used to spread from the Baltic Sea down up to shores of the Black Sea.) Of course, as everything that originates from God, this significance and power given to Poland would come NOT from immoral activities, spill of blood, military power, and war, but through the moral force, knowledge, and increase of authority in the world. As such, these would be permanent. So if by some unexpected miracle, Poles deserved the honour that "the spark come out from Poland", then they would simultaneously deserve also for the "Poland from the sea to the sea". But if due to their immorality, viciousness, and stupidity they murder and burry their chance for "the spark to come out from Poland", then they will also murder and burry their chance for the "Poland spreading from the sea to the sea".

Part #F: "A Polish pope, a black pope, and then the end of Christianity" (but a beginning of a new faith):

#F1. What a half of century ago old people used to tell us about future popes:

Motto: "The question that induces reflections: for what Poles loved JP2 (i.e. John Paul Second) - for the value of his views and ideas, or for the position and power which he represented? (i.e. for his own accomplishments, or for whatever God did for him?) In other words - would he be loved the same if God left him to act as an ordinary priest instead of pope?"

In times of my childhood, means over a half of century ago, there were no televisions sets. So the favourite entertainment during long winter evenings were then stories of old people. In turn a significant proportion of these stories constituted various statements about the future. Such statements concerning the future these old-timers called with the name "prophecies". But otherwise to prophecies which we currently can learn from present books, these old "folklore prophecies" described only what is to come in the future, but they never stated where exactly this knowledge originates from. Thus, these prophecies more represented the common folk knowledge or a kind of "folkloristic intuition" of the nation, than a typical, well documented prophecy originating from some specific source. I personally, however, believe more in such "intuitive prophecies of the nation" than in statements of individual people. After all, they represent the outcome from the perception of the future by a huge crowds of people. As such, they are more certain than predictions of individual people. Also, they usually fulfil in exactly the same way in which they were foretold. (In turn prophecies of individual people usually are symbolic and require interpretation.)

In times when I wrote down these words on 3 April 2005 (means in one day after the death of 264-th pope, Pole, John Paul Second), many amongst us wanted to learn, what a half of century ago these stories of old people stated about the future popes. After all, it is obvious that a significant proportion of these prophecies concerned popes. So here it is written down what I still remember on this subject. (Notice that further information on the subject of the same old prophecy is also provided on internet web page named God.)

What I remember from times of my childhood is that the most commonly repeated out of these "folklore prophecies" about the future popes, was stating the following (I am repeating it here in the terminology used at that time). "Firstly a Polish pope will come, then a black pope will come, while after the black pope the end of Christianity is to take place". (By the expression a "black pope" these prophecies understood decisively a pope with a black skin - means decisively a black pope of an African race, not by any chance someone with a slightly "olive" Mediterranean skin.) Interestingly, the above "folklore prophecy" was repeated in such form tens of years earlier before on 16 October 1978 the Polish cardinal Karol Józef Wojtyła, become 264-th pope, John Paul Second. In turn at these old times, the situation in the world was such, that then NO-ONE even dreamed that a Polish pope could sit in the Apostolic Capitol in a near future. Shockingly for me, the fulfilment of the first half of this prophecy took place still in the duration of my life. So I am also very curious to learn, whether the second half of the same prophecy is going to fulfil soon as well.

What I unfortunately do not remember from these old folklore prophecies, was whether this "black pope" supposed to come immediately after the "Polish pope", or there supposed to still be one or more intermediate popes between these two. But this my doubt appeared to clarify around 6:05 in the evening (in time of Rome), on Tuesday, 19 April 2005, when a German Cardinal Dr Joseph Ratzinger was selected to be 265-th pope, Benedict XVI. After all, the present pope is of an European race. But does this really mean that the time of fulfilling of this old prophecy about the "black pope" (i.e. of an African race) is NOT here yet? Means, does it mean that our planet is NOT ready yet for ending the era of Christianity and beginning a next era, and that the God's plan for the Earth is to establish a few other intermediate popes between the "Polish pope" and the "black pope"?

During seeking the answer to the above questions, it is worth to notice that sometimes in situations when content of prophecies would cause changes in human behaviours (and this way also disturbances in the fulfilment of prophecies), for a better hiding their content some prophecies may refer NOT directly to people, but to symbols which represent these people. In such a light, quite intriguing becomes the coat of arms of the present pope, Benedict XVI. (On 8 April 2006 this coat of arms of Benedict XVI could be seen on the internet web page misje.gdansk.franciszkanie.pl/Benedykt%20XVI.html.) After all, on the coat of arms of the present pope, in the left-upper corner, visible is a head of a black person of an African race - this coat of arm is shown in "Fig. #F1" below. This "black head" appears in the bishop coat of arms for diocese of Freising since XVI century, while the present pope, Benedict XVI, still keeps his former bishop's coat of arms. (I encountered the statement, that this head appeared on the coat of arms of the old principality of Freising as early as 1316.) The highly intriguing is NOT only the sole fact of the presence of a black head in the coat of arms of the pope which come next after the "Polish pope", but also the name of this head. This "black head" from the coat of arms of the present pope is known under two different names, i.e. under the name (1) "Moor of Freising" - which can be easily translated into present language as a "Black from Freising", and under the name (2) "Caput Ethiopicum" - which expression in fact has two meaningful translations into present language. The first translation of the expression "Caput Ethiopicum" into present language means the "Head of a Black" - thus it clearly refers to the position of the carrier of this coat of arms as to a "black head", means to the "black leader". But the second translation of this name is even more strange. Namely, the expression "Caput Ethiopicum" can also be translated as the "Fall-down of the Primary Christianity". The point is that the word "caput" carries also the meaning "fall-down" understood in the sense of "ending", "breaking", or "ruining". In turn the word "ethiopicum" in old times used to mean also the "primary version of Christianity" which originally spread in the area of present Ethiopia. In other words, the above suggests to watch rather carefully what in present times happens to Christianity.

Fig. #F1: Examples of web pages on which the reader can see the Ratzinger's coat of arms - i.e. the coat of arms of present pope Benedict XVI. (In order to see this coat of arms, it suffices to click on any address listed above, and then seek the coat of arms on the web page that is to appear - these addresses were tested in February 2009.) This coat of arms is worth to see. The reason is that in its upper-left corner the "head of a black man" is visible. In turn an old Polish prophecy stated that "firstly comes a Polish pope, then comes a black pope, and then will be the end of Christianity" (i.e. the end of to-date version of this religion - means the end understood as a "beginning of new" not as an "end of everything"). Shockingly, this prophecy was known for many years before a Polish cardinal was chosen to be a pope. In the light of this old Polish prophecy we can become curious whether the head of a person of African origin visible on the pope's coat of arms, is actually a sign from God that this old Polish prophecy is fulfilling right now? After all, prophecies not always must be literal – so is it possible that God coded it discreetly into the coat of arms of present pope?

What is even more interesting, as this is explained in items #F3 and #F4 below, this "end of Christianity" in past was interpreted in the understanding of a "beginning of something new" - means as a kind of drastic philosophical transformation of religious institutions, not as a disappearance of faith in God and the fall-down of religions. It means that it supposed to be only an end of the old era of "believing in God" linked with a simultaneous initiation of a new era of "knowledge about God". In turn such a "beginning of new" would already took place if in the beliefs of people occurred three small transformations, for example (1) religions would adopt new scientific foundations of the kind of these ones that are already provided to them by the Concept of Dipolar Gravity - which scientifically described God in a manner that remains consistent with the Bible and with other holy books, means which is NOT contradictive to Christianity, although which provides different interpretations of holy books than interpretations developed by Christianity thousands of years ago and thus not agreeable with modern knowledge concerning the "liquid computer" - means "counter-matter", or "word" - in meaning of "information" or a "program", etc. (for examples of such descriptions of God see volumes 6 and 5 from the monograph [8/2] "Totalizm"), (2) religions would start to accept the rights of God to differentiate His manifestations in every separate culture, and (3) the present celibate and preference of males would be abandoned by priests and religious institutions. Although from the point of view of their character such changes are purely "cosmetic in nature", from the point of view of their consequences these changes would turn to be revolutionary. For example, one amongst their consequences would be that all religions would cease to be separate religions, and would begin to be united form of dissemination the knowledge about God and facilitation closeness to God.

The prophecy A Polish pope, a black pope, and then the end of Christianity, is also discussed in subsection M2 from volume 8 in second edition of monograph [8/2] "Totalizm".

#F2. The same prophecy (about the "end of Christianity") from other sources:

The vital attribute of truth is that in the same form it usually emerges from a whole range of various sources. Thus far back in 2005, i.e. a short time after writing down and publishing in Internet this web page with old prophecies from times of my childhood, a reader supplemented these with additional details. But before I am going to quote these details here, I would like to direct the reader's attention to the fact, that e.g. on the web page indicated below in the email of that reader, two last popes (i.e. "Gloria Olivae" and "Petrus Romanus") is considered to be one and the same person. Furthermore, it is worth to notice also, that the list below contains around 100 popes less than were of them in reality (means that between historically breakthrough popes which are listed below, also were elected popes whom have NOT cause any vital change in the history of humanity or Christianity). Here are these additional data posted to me by a reader of internet web pages of totalizm - I quote these "word-by-word" from the email of this reader (in my free translation from Polish):

I am more familiar with the matter of prophecy than with matters of UFOs. So I am taking this liberty to remind, that the prophecy concerns the so-called "revelation of St. Malachiash" - i.e. medieval monk from Ireland. Here is the link where this subject is described republika.pl/mr_all/malachpl.htm. St. Malachiash briefly listed all further popes and added a "Latin pseudo-name" to each one of them. And so, on the list of St. Malachiash there were following popes:

- JOHN PAUL I - De medietate Lunae.

- JOHN PAUL II - Karol Wojtyła - De labore Solis (the labour of Sun). The Polish pope, Karol Wojtyła, was born on the day of Sun eclipse - 18 May 1920. He was buried on Friday, 8 April 2005 - during a solar eclipse.

- the next supposed to be GLORIA OLIVAE - the glory of olive tree. It can be interpreted as a pope with black skin - as the majority of people claim, but we should also remember that an olive tree and branch are symbols of people originating from Mediterranean cultures, including Israelites. So perhaps it describes a pope with Jewish roots.

- the last supposed to be PETRUS ROMANUS - Roman Peter (from Rome).

Taking opportunity of this email about prophecies, I would also like to present the revelation of abbot Stanislav Reszka: prophecy of abbot Reszka - the list of Polish kings (from the second half of XVI century) "Profetia Abbatis Andreoviensis Stanislai de regibus Poloniae et veritas conformis". Means: the prophecy of abbot Jędrzejowski Stanisław Reszka about kings of Poland.

- 1. Flos in Vallae - Flower in the valley*
- 2. Nominis Corona - From the name crown*
- 3. Exul fortunatus - Happy exiled*
- 4. Gloria succedens - Glory to come*
- 5. Manipulus sterilis - Unfertile servant*
- 6. Noctis breve Sidus - Star of a short night*
- 7. Manus Congregatorum - Arm of congregated*
- 8. Diversi Coloris - Various colours*
- 9. Solus Princeps - Only prince*
- 10. Ex duobus Unus - One from two*
- 11. Sonitus Apium - Buzzing of bees*
- 12. Custos Vigilantiae - Guard of alertness*
- 13. Ipse Fortis - Alone brave*
- 14. Civitatis aliquod ornamentum - An ornament of kingdom*
- 15. Alter Cracus - Second Krak*
- 16. Patriae Sol - Sun of the country*
- 17. Regnorum Occasus - Fall of kingdoms*

Interpretations of Prof. Bartłomiej Groch provided in the book "Ks. Bronisław Markiewicz i jego dzieło oraz przepowiednie o przyszłości Polski" describes:

- 1. Flos in Valle - Henryk Walezy, because Latin "vallis - valley" is related to the French word Valois. Waleziushes had in their coat of arms the "lily of valley".*
- 2. Nominis Corona - Stefan Batory, in Greek "stefanos" means "crown" or "garland".*
- 3. Exul fortunatus - Zygmunt III. As a child he was send to exile from Sweden,* luckily for him becoming a king of Poland.

4. Gloria succedens - Władysław IV, famous from victories.

5. Manipulus sterilis - Jan Kazimierz, which finally abdicated.

6. Noctis brevis Sidus - Michał Korybut Wiśniowiecki, whose ruling was short and destructive for Poland. He had stars in his coat of arms.

7. Manus Congregatorum - Jan III Sobieski, victorious king from the battle of Vienna with Turks.

8. Diversi Coloris - August II, whom ruled Poland and Saxony.

9. Solus Princeps - Stanisław Leszczyński (here is uncertainty, whether the order of this king should be changed with the next one).

10. Ex duobus Unus - August III Mocny (see above).

11. Sonitus Apium - Stanisław August, under whose rules Poland resembled a busy beehive.

12. Custos Vigilantiae - Tadeusz Kościuszko, who patronised all attempts at the rebirth of Poland.

13. Ipse Fortis - Henryk Dąbrowski, creator of Legions.

14. Civitatis aliquod ornamentum - times of Warszawa Principality and the prince Józef Poniatowski.

15. Alter Cracus - Second Cracovian - Józef Piłsudski, who restored the Polish country, while people make for him a mound in Krakow like in past they did this to the legendary Krak.

16. Patriae Sol - Sun of the country - the pope John Paul II.

17. Regnorum Occasus - ??????? means the FALL DOWN OF KINGDOMS - times when kingdoms, countries, and political systems will fall down. After the death of John Paul II...

A common point for number 17? The future "ruler" - "representative of the nation". What can cause the fall down of countries and political systems - economic, political, etc.?

On the above question, giving a lot of food for thoughts, finishes the quotation from email of the reader of this web page.

#F3. The "end of Christianity" was used in this prophecy in the sense of the "beginning of something new", not as the "definitive end of everything":

In the above "folklore prophecy" very interesting is the interpretation of this "end of Christianity". From explanations of these old people I remember that this end has NOT supposed to mean the complete ceasing by people to believe in God, nor a fall-down of religious institutions presently represented by churches, temples, priests, etc. It also has NOT mean that it supposed to occur then the "end of world" - and thus that there will be no room for any religion. Old people who used to tell these "prophecies" clearly explained this "end of Christianity" in a completely different manner. Namely they claimed that the Christianity will be then replaced by a much "better faith in God". Means, that the present institution called "Christianity", which is dedicated to the "service to God", and which was shaped historically from merging together a specific faith, knowledge, traditions, symbolism, methods of action, people, holy places and buildings, etc., then become replaced with a much better institution, which is going to call itself differently. But this new institution still will be dedicated to "serving God for the benefit of people", also it still will be composed of knowledge, tradition, methods of action, people, holy places and buildings, etc. What even more interesting, the attributes of this new "better faith in God" which in the future supposed to replace the present Christianity, quite exactly correspond to attributes of the philosophy called "totalizm" (the relatively extensive description of which is provided in monograph [8/2], and also in numerous internet web pages about totalizm - for example in web pages about the philosophy of totalizm, Bible as an autobiography of God, karma, moral laws, free will, and God as well as scientific evidence for the existence of God - all disseminated via "Menu 4" from this web page).

#F4. Initially the changes can be "purely cosmetic":

Motto: "All things are simple - these are people who make them complicated."

When one hears the expression "the end of Christianity" from the old Polish prophecy about the "Polish pope, black pope, and the end of Christianity", then in eyes of imagination one sees this end as a kind of catastrophe. For example, it can be seen as an "end of world" together with a physical impossibility that any religion could be continued, or it can be seen as a "nuclear war" combined with the destruction of churches and too-tough fight for everyday survival of these sparse people that are still alive, to make them devote time and energy for supporting the institution of church. However, if we recall what old people used to tell about this "end of Christianity", then it turns out that in fact they described only the "end of an old" which appears only to release the "beginning of a new". Also, it turns out that actual changes by such "end of an old and beginning of a new" initially may have rather "purely cosmetic" character, and may just concern more changes in philosophy and views of the world, than a complete reformation of the institution of church and "faith in God". For example, if this "end of an old and beginning of a new" would occur on the basis of findings of the Concept of Dipolar Gravity and the philosophy of totalizm, then in reality changes that would take place could limit themselves to mainly 3 "cosmetic" philosophical improvements of Christianity, namely to:

1. Adopting by Christianity the scientific foundations in the form of findings of the Concept of Dipolar Gravity. This small philosophical change in the form of adopting the Concept of Dipolar Gravity for scientific foundations, would cause revolutionary consequences. For example, it would allow to prove scientifically the existence of God, scientifically explain God - as this is done in volume 6 of monograph [\[8/2\] "Totalizm"](#), and scientifically direct the coexistence of people with God in such a manner that it would serve most beneficially to happiness of people and to goals of God. In other words, basing the teaching and activities of the Christianity on scientific foundations which stem from the Concept of Dipolar Gravity would cause that the to-date faith in God would be replaced by the future knowledge and certainty of God.

2. Accepting the existence of multitudes of different manifestations of God. Means accepting that for subsequent cultures which attributes mutually differ, the same God manifests His existence and actions also in a differentiated manner - i.e. in a manner which is suiting the best each given culture. This small philosophical transformation again in consequences would turn to be revolutionary. After all, due to it, all religions would rapidly become able to unify into a single institution of "service for God". This is because all religions serve the same God. Only that each one of them serves God in a manner which is agreeable with manifestations that this single God uses to appeal to the unique culture of people whom given religion serves. In the result, all priests of all religions are in fact "professional servicemen to the same God" - means all of them are professional colleagues. The only things that differentiate them between themselves are traditions and cultures of nations which they bring closer to God. So instead of present different religions, after this philosophical improvement is accepted, it would emerge a single institution of service to God, in the volume of which subsequent priests would only act in the spirit of tradition of Catholicism, or Protestantism, or Hinduism, or Buddhism, or Taoism, etc.

3. Ceasing celibate and preferences for males. This in turn would cause a whole array of consequences, in spite that the majority of laws and traditions of church and religion would still be kept (e.g. the properties of church would still belong to church, not to priests). For example, male priests could have wives and children. Masses could be conducted by female priests. Female priests could also have husbands and children. Thus priests would cease to be separated from a real life (as this is the case at present). Also would disappear the major obstacle to the profession of a priest.

A main curiosity of the above philosophical changes would be that in spite of their "cosmetic nature", their consequences would turn revolutionary. After all, these consequences would include, amongst others: "the transformation of faith in God into knowledge of God", a renewal of interest of people in God, an uplifting of the general morality of all people, an increase in happiness of individual people, an initiation of the path towards a new totaliztic era in faith and in social politics, the uniting of all religions in the world, the change of all separate religious services into a single professional service for God, the disappearance of separate religions (e.g. Christianity, Hinduism, Buddhism, Taoism, etc.) and the establishing of a single "service to God according to Christian tradition", "service to God according to Hinduism tradition", "service to God according to Buddhism tradition", and many more massive changes. Of course, apart from entire religions and nations, these changes would affect also individual people.

#F5. The moral crisis of Catholicism from April 2010:

In April 2010 the Roman-Catholic church went through very serious crisis, which almost turned out to be that "last straw able to break the camel's back", and about further consequences of which perhaps we still are going to hear. Everything started over a month earlier when the world press encountered the information that Cardinal Dr Joseph Ratzinger, in times proceeding becoming the Pope Benedict XVI, was responsible for cover up and protecting from justice several immoral priests who abused sexually children given to their care. Examples of methods of this covering up and protecting, together with several names of specific priests who were subjected to this process, describe several newspaper articles. To these belong, e.g. an article [1#F5] "Predators shuffled around the globe" from page B9 of New Zealand newspaper Weekend Herald, issue dated on Saturday, April 17, 2010; or the article [2#F5] "Ratzinger refused to defrock priest", from page A15 of newspaper The New Zealand Herald, issue dated on Tuesday, June 1, 2010. In the result, these priests whose immoral activities and sexual abuse of children qualified not only to be deprived of priesthood, but also asked for hefty criminal punishments, were by Vatican just delegated to less known parts of the world, where they could continue to carry out their immoral style of living.

The world press quite precisely documented its accusations. For example, it provided names of specific priests and specific places in which these priests sexually abused children, reproduced letters with directives signed by Cardinal Dr Joseph Ratzinger, etc. But instead fighting these specific accusation with equally specific defence (e.g. by giving the description of steps taken to prevent re-offending by these priests, or providing statistics that would indicate the level of rehabilitation amongst these relocated priests), Vatican started to repeat medieval methods of its acting letting world to know that all these re just "actions of Satan" aimed at destruction of the church. Of course, such a reaction of Rome just only make the situation worse. On the entire world people started to show their disgust. Many disgusted Catholics left the church. For example, according to the article "German Catholics abandon church" from page B2 of New Zealand newspaper The Dominion Post, issue dated on Friday, April 16, 2010, only in the month of March 2010 and only in one diocese Freiburg, Catholicism was abandoned by 2711 former faithful.

According to my personal estimate, the largest danger, however, that this moral crisis of church from April 2010 may lead to the fulfilment of the prophecy described here, introduced a humble initiative described in the article "Pair want Pope arrested in Britain over sex abuse cover up" from page B1 of New Zealand newspaper The Dominion Post, issue dated on Monday, April 12, 2010. According to this article, a famous atheist, Richard Dawkins, established a team of lawyers whom get the goal to mount a court case in which the Pope could be arrested under the accusation of crimes against humanity. Professor Dawkins is widely known in the world that he typically carries his actions to the conclusion - as an example see the outcomes of his campaign of advertisements on buses that "there is NO God" discussed in item #A2 of the web page timevehicle.htm or in item #H4 of the web page cloud_ufo.htm. So if he really manages to mount a court case on the basis of which the Pope can be arrested and placed in court, then in reality this can spell the end of Christianity. After all, such an accusation causes the arrest of Pope - if just for any reasons he leaves the Vatican. In addition the Pope is NOT going to use a "diplomatic immunity" against the accusation, because his country is NOT a member of United Nations. In turn after the arrest of Pope, the Catholic Church would simply disintegrate. Anyway, if the Pope is sentenced for the activity against the humanity, this would open doors for announcing the entire Catholic church to be an "illegal institution" and to dissolve this church. Thus the prophecy described here could fulfil.

One amongst directions of my research is the link between catastrophes and immoral philosophies of people which are affected by these catastrophes. This research are described more comprehensively on the web page day26.htm. They reveal quite an shocking picture. Namely, that simultaneously with the time when around 1995 the rules over the Earth assumed a highly immoral generation which in items #I5 and #I6 of the web page tapanui.htm is called "Midases in reverse", God started also on the Earth the process of "moral cleansing of the humanity". This process boils down to judging from the point of view of morality every community and institution on the Earth, and then annihilating discreetly these amongst them which are NOT clean morally - of course after firstly receiving the warning from God that they need to change their behaviour. It look like, that the Catholic church is NOT released or excluded from going through this process of cleansing. This is why, that moral crisis of April 2010 probably is an initial warning from God. This warning states, that either the Catholic church starts to change its ways by itself - thus morally cleansing itself and adopting methods of action which are appropriate to requirements of present times (as this is described in item #F4 above), or the old prophecy described here is going to fulfil.

Part #G: "The arrival of Second Jesus to Christchurch in 1999":

The exact content of prophecies described in this section I learned outside of Poland. But they have a link with very similar prophecies which I have heard in Wszewilki during my childhood soon after the Second World War.

#G1. Divine revelation of Dayaks about a date when Second Jesus is to initiate his mission on the Earth:

At Borneo I lived at the territory, which is mainly occupied by tribes of Land Dayaks. They call themselves "Bidayuh". Dayaks are very special people. Their elders are widely known from wisdom and prophetic capabilities. In turn their women are famous from being very beautiful, and are recognised as one of the most beautiful women in the world. (I must admit, that the fame of these miniature, shapely, full of grace, and beautiful women of the exquisite lineament, is fully deserved.) Dayaks proverbs are considered to be real pearls of folk wisdom. They adopted Christianity only lately, and as this is always the case with someone who just turned into the Christian faith, near their churches a lot of miracles and extraordinary events took place lately.

Initially I was introduced to Dayaks by my students, who were Dayaks by themselves, thus who introduced me to their relatives, friends, and to people of authority in their tribes. These introductions represented the only period in my life, when I was called a "guru", and I did not object when this name was used on me. In the everyday language used by Dayaks, the word "guru" adopted from the Indian language, means "teacher". But Dayaks use it only towards these teachers, whom they like and with whom they are friendly. (The remaining lecturers they call officially "my lecturer" or "my professor".) Dayak students always introduced me to their families, friends, or authorities, as "my guru".

I was very attracted to Dayaks, because of the numerous unexplained phenomena, which were taking place amongst them. So I had a lot of Dayak friends, and kept continuous contact with them. One Dayak elder, with whom I was spending a lot of time on discussions, show me a lot of trust by disclosing a religious revelation received at that time by some Dayaks' elders. This religious revelation was stating, that Second Jesus was already on Earth, and that He is to officially start His ministry on Earth in the day when the "euro" currency is introduced in Europe. (As we know from the history of "euro", this currency was introduced in several stages. The date of the first of these introductions, although limited one, was on 4th January 1999. On 1 January 2002 the currency "euro" was introduced again, this time as the official currency of twelfth, out of 15 existing, countries of the European Common Market. Countries which in 1/1/2 officially introduced it into the circulation were: Austria, Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Portugal, Spain. It was not introduced in: Britain, Sweden, Denmark.) The introduction of this euro currency, according to the revelation of Dayaks, was the act of a symbolic revival of the Roman Empire. Prophecies were saying, that it is also going to be the date, when Second Jesus was to begin His official ministry on Earth. The revelation also stated, that just before He starts His ministry on Earth, He is to visit Dayaks and live amongst them for a while.

Of course, I was very interested in this revelation. As a small boy I have heard a lot of prophecies about the time of arrival of Second Jesus to Earth, which is just approaching. For example, old Polish prophecies closely link the mission of Second Jesus on Earth with Poland, by stating that "the spark is going to come out from Poland" - whatever this means. This is why in old days many Poles used to believe that Poland is going to fulfil the key role in the mission of Second Jesus on Earth. (E.g. see the following words expressing the essence of one of these prophecies "for the surprise of all nations of the world, from Poland is to come the hope for the tormented humanity" - in the Polish original "ku zdumieniu wszystkich narodow swiata z Polski wyjdzie nadzieja udreczonej ludzkosci", which are repeated on page 29 of the book: Jan Kwasniewski, Marek Chylinski, "Dieta Optymalna", second edition, Prasa Slaska, Katowice 1997.) Only then, as Bible states, the Second Jesus is to strike the hordes of Satan from East to West ("For the Son of Man will come like the lightning which flashes across the whole sky from the east to the west" - Matthew 24:27). The Bible also several times proclaims and emphasizes, that Second Jesus is going to arrive humbly and without announcement, "like a thief". As an example of these proclamations see Revelation 3:3 "If you do not wake up, I will come upon you like a thief, and you will not even know the time when I will come". The same states Revelation 16:15 "Listen! I am coming like a thief!", and 2 Peter 3:10 "But the day of the Lord will come like a thief". Furthermore, the Bible warns "So then, you also must always be ready, because the Son of Man will come at an hour when you are not expecting him." (see Matthew 24:44). Thus, apart from a sparse few, whom God gifted with the ability to find His greatness hidden behind the screen of modesty and usualness, the entire humanity will learn who He really was only after he departs. Polish prophecies stated also that Second Jesus is going to be born as an ordinary man (Son of Man), not as Son of God, and that He will not do any miracles by Himself, although numerous miracles are going to occur in His vicinity. After all, He needs to be recognised by people because of the type of work He is doing on Earth, not because of miracles that can easily be fabricated by all these "false prophets" about which Bible is warning us. (For example, see words of the Bible: "Then, if anyone says to you, 'Look here is the Messiah!' or 'There he is!' - do not believe him. For the false Messiahs and false prophets will appear, they will perform great miracles and wonders in order to deceive even God's chosen people, if possible." - Matthew 24:23-24.) Furthermore, the mission of Second Jesus on Earth is not to take away sins that people committed, or are to commit, but to indicate and to open for people a new path to continuous self-improvement, so that each person could start to march in the correct direction of moral self-saving. This mission of Second Jesus to start self-improvement and self-saving of these people who are willing to do so, is quite clearly expressed in the Bible, where it is contained e.g. in the words (Hebrews 9:27-28): "Everyone must die once, and after that be judged by God. In the same manner Christ also was offered in sacrifice once to take away the sins of many. He will appear a second time, not to deal with sin, but to save those who are waiting for him." Prophecies state also, that Second Jesus splits Earth into two halves. Many people interpret this prophecy literally, believing that at the time of appearing on Earth, the manifestation of His godly powers will be so enormous, that Earth literally will split under His feet. But according to philosophy of totalizm, such an open manifestation of His godly power would run against "canon of ambiguity" described in subsection B7.4 from the monograph [\[8/2\] "Totalizm"](#). In such a case people would have no other option but to do exactly what Second Jesus orders them. In turn such a lack of other option would completely deprive people of their free will. Therefore, this prophecy about the splitting of Earth should be interpreted allegorically. Second Jesus is not going to split Earth physically under the feet, but is going to philosophically split people inhabiting Earth into two opposite camps: these ones who choose the path of obeying moral laws and laborious climbing towards perfection, and these ones who choose the path of comforts, walking around moral laws, and moral decadency. According to prophecies, Second Jesus changes completely on Earth also the speed of elapse of time and the understanding of time. In the effect of His activities, the same period of time of one week which so-far encompassed the equivalent of present 7 days, because of Him will be possible to extend later technically, so that it is going to encompass equivalent of present 8 days. So-far people did not know how to interpret this strange prophecy. Thus they explained it allegorically, usually as a change of calendar and the arrival of a new era. But subsection H9.1 and chapter M of [monograph \[1/4\]](#) clearly reveals, that this prophecy is simply an information about the use of device that changes the speed of elapse of time, only it is explained with the use of primitive ideas available for people thousands of years ago. According to it, in result of the arrival of Second Jesus humanity learns how to change the speed of elapse of time. Thus time becomes then like a rubber - it can be stretched with the use of appropriate technical device described, for example, on the web page immortality.htm. Present 7-day long week will be then possible to stretch so that it will be lasting for the equivalent of present 8 days. Probably also such continuous stretching of time by around 15%, so that the present week will then occupy an equivalent of present 8 days, will be possible to accomplish without a damage to human health and without any undesirable consequences to the natural environment on Earth. Therefore one of numerous effects of the activities of Second Jesus will be that a new era will come to Earth in future, when time will be continually stretched by these 15%, so that the future week will be lasting for the duration of present 8 days.

With the prophecy about Second Jesus another prophecy about Antichrist is also connected. Second Jesus is installed by God in order to remove Satan from Earth and to initiate a new era of prosperity and happiness that is to prevail for a next thousand of years. But Satan is not going to give up so easily, and it is going to react on the arrival of Second Jesus by sending his Antichrist. The task of Antichrist is to destroy work of Second Jesus and to extend the rules of Satan on Earth. Antichrist supposed to arrive to Earth soon after the arrival of Second Jesus. With his arrival, or with his person, somehow triple digit "6" supposed to be connected, e.g. it may arrive on 6 June 2006. His words, behaviour, and also external appearance, are going to mimic original Jesus. Therefore an old Polish belief states that "Antichrist is to mimic the face of Jesus" and that "Antichrist is going to impersonate Second Jesus". After a spectacular arrival in fire and thunders, Antichrist is going to complete a lot of tricks, which to naive people will look like miracles and healings completed by original Jesus. Therefore many people are going to be deceived by these tricks, and begin to follow Antichrist, worshipping him like he is God. But the aim of Antichrist is only to gain political power. Then he starts doing evil and serve Satan. By deception and machinations he is going to build up a huge empire on Earth, which is going to span almost a half of our planet. In this empire he is going to rule cruelly and with an iron hand. For example he is going to force all his people to surgically implant a kind of identification chip (i.e. a "mark of the beast"), without which no activities can be carried out in public, e.g. even buying bread will require this chip. Citizens of his empire will NOT be happier or safer than before his arrival. He also is to instigate many wars. The last battle in these wars is going to have some connection with the place in Israel called Armageddon. According to prophecies, Antichrist is going to be defeated in there by combined forces of the rest of world, which by that time will already recognise teachings of the real Second Jesus.

The problem with similar timings of the arrival of firstly Second Jesus which does good, and then Antichrist which pretends to be Second Jesus but does evil, is distinguishing between these two. Probably for this reason times in which this happens are going to be called times of judgement. People are going to be forced to judge by whom they stand. Many is going to be deceived and they stand by Antichrist. But according to prophecies, differences between these two are huge and should be obvious at a first glance. Each one of them is an opposite of the other one. Antichrist serves Satan, Second Jesus serves God. Antichrist is to hide truth, Second Jesus is to disclose it. Antichrist does his actions spectacularly, to amaze crowds. Second Jesus does everything humbly, quietly, and without publicity, "like a thief". Antichrist takes political power over people and rules physically. Second Jesus appeals to logic and conscience of people, leading them only spiritually. Antichrist orders and demands blind obedience. Second Jesus explains and convinces, but leaves to everyone the free will and choice what to do. Antichrist only speaks of doing good, while actually spreads evil. But Second Jesus teaches how to do good, and does good by himself. Antichrist publicly shows off numerous "miracles" and "healings", but does not leave any disciple, nor teaches other people anything useful. Second Jesus does not do miracles by Himself (although these will take place in His vicinity), although leaves many followers behind and gives enough knowledge to initiate a completely new era on Earth.

After hearing about this Dayak's revelation, which indicated the date of official initiation of mission by Second Jesus, just in case I checked whether anyone from Europe is living amongst them at that time. As it turned out, there was no such an European. It was not a good time for this type of endeavours. After all, in that region of Borneo local authorities deepened their adverse to Europeans, because of the accusation from Europe that they allow the destruction of tropical forests. Moreover, area of the South-East Asia was just in the grip of a powerful financial crisis (called then the "Asian Crisis"). Thus apart from a few tourists, in the whole Sarawak there was only a handful of Europeans living semi-permanently. Unfortunately, each one of them was busy with completing some kind of an urgent contract or profession, and had no time to live amongst Dayaks.

More information about this divine revelation to Dayaks is provided in items #73 and #74 from chapter A4 in volume 1 of [monograph \[1/4\]](#), as well as in items #73 and #74 from subsection L4 in volume 8 of second edition of [monograph \[8/2\] "Totalizm"](#).

#G2. Supernatural revelation from Christchurch, New Zealand, about the arrival of Second Jesus to Christchurch in 1999:

On Friday, 24 September 1999 I was watching TV news on channel 1 of TV New Zealand. They were broadcasted from 6:00 to 7:00 pm. Rapidly I was shocked by one news item. It was a short, scoffing report, which was making fun of the manager from Christchurch city council. He was spending millions on beautifying his city for the arrival of Second Jesus. (In this scoffing TV news item, the city manager of Christchurch was finger-pointed by name.) This news item mainly concentrated on scoffing and ridiculing, thus almost contained no facts. But it was implying, that there was some divine event, which revealed, that in 1999 city of Christchurch is to be honoured by the visit from Second Jesus, and that the manager of city council took this divine revelation enough seriously, to invest millions of dollars into the preparation of Christchurch for this very special visit. Unfortunately I was able to remember only a few data from this brief news item. (I have not seen it again, so I had no opportunity to refresh my memory, to verify my understanding of it, or to record it.) But as I understood this news item, it mentioned several vital areas of Christchurch, which were selected for rebuilding and for beautifying for the arrival of Second Jesus. Out of what still stays in my mind, most probably in this program mentioned were, amongst others, the central square of Christchurch, named "Cathedral Square", which - according to this divine revelation, was to be the culmination point of the visit of Second Jesus; the main entry road to Christchurch from the Timaru side - as according to this divine revelation this was to be the road by which Second Jesus was to enter Christchurch (to Christchurch lead three major roads: from Timaru, from the West Coast, and from Kaikoura, plus several further small, local roads); and the covered swimming pool of Christchurch, which was to be made ready to be used if Second Jesus decides to carry out mass christening. Immediately after I heard this news item, I rushed to learn more details about where and how this divine revelation took place, what exactly it stated, etc. To my enormous disappointment, I could not find any further details to be officially provided. It appeared as if this divine revelation induced only a mass disbelieve, scoffing, and ridiculing, while no official source was prepared to carry out the duty of rational informing people what actually had happened. For me personally such reactions sounded a bit arrogant and unwelcome towards God. The only other news item, which referred to this revelation, and which I managed to find, was a very brief article [25A4] "A gay old time in the capital". On 30 September 1999, it was published on page 4 of the newspaper "The Timaru Herald" (Bank Street, Timaru, New Zealand). This article again was not providing any informative details, but limited itself to additional scoffing at the beautifying activities of the Christchurch city manager (again finger-pointing him by name, so there is no mistake who is he), and associated his case with sarcastic comments about homosexuals. Fortunately verbal rumours, which at that time started to spread throughout New Zealand, were not so laconic, although they were quite imprecise, and full of mutual contradictions. Of course, because of the complete lack of official information, what actually had happened, no-one knows which parts of these rumours were coinciding with truth, which were just speculations. According to these verbal rumours which I heard at that time, there was a divine revelation in one of fundamentalist churches in Christchurch. In a miraculous manner many people from this church got the breathtaking divine message, that Second Jesus is going to visit Christchurch in 1999, that the culmination point of His visit is to be the central Cathedral Square from Christchurch, that He arrives to that city by the main road from the Timaru side, and that the city is specially chosen for this honour for many important reasons. Because the city manager supposedly was one of those numerous people, who experienced this divine revelation in person, and had no slightest doubt about its significance, he decided to save no funds in order to prepare city for such an unique occasion. So he laid new marble-like paving of the "Cathedral Square" - so that Second Jesus had a nice area to conduct public masses, and he rebuild the main road on the Timaru side, by which Second Jesus was to enter the city. Furthermore, from his own initiative he additionally modernised the city's covered swimming pool - so that there is a facility to conduct mass christening. I actually was so much interested in this divine revelation, that in 1999 I especially drove from Timaru to Christchurch - and I did it a number of times. I wanted to check how these works are progressing, on what scale they are carried out, what are their outcomes, and also I wanted to talk to local people from Christchurch whether any new developments took place (after all, I could not count on the official information about these matters, as mass media in New Zealand refused to report objectively what was happening). And in fact, I noted that the marble-like pavements of the "Cathedral Square" in my opinion looked marvellous. From the previous typical Eastern, provincial small town appearance of this square, they transformed it into a large city centre with a very modern, European taste, which literally took breath away with its elegance, nobility, majestic, openness, and prospective. Also the main entry road to Christchurch from the Timaru side was really much improved. Unfortunately, the impressive scope of beautifying works, which I initially observed on this road during my first entrances to Christchurch, was soon narrowed down - probably because of the effects of all these scoffing attacks of the New Zealand mass media. In the result, even after it was rebuild and beautified, this road still left a lot to wish for. In turn what happened with the city's covered swimming pool, I am not able to report here, because I never went to see it. But the entire year 1999 passed quietly, and the awaited by everyone fiery spectacle of the divine entry of Second Jesus to Christchurch did not take place. From the talks, which at that time were carried out about this subject, it appears that everyone expected a rather spectacular event, full of fire, lightning flashes, and other manifestations of Godly powers. Thus, when nothing like this has happened, many people showed not only a large disappointment, but also a large anger. A typical reaction was, that many people only deepen their scepticism and readiness for scoffing. Almost no-one with whom I discussed, expressed an opinion that Second Jesus actually could arrive to Christchurch not in a spectacular manner, which everyone was expecting, but exactly as the divine revelation in Bible foretold this, means humbly and unrecognised "like a thief" (see Bible, 2 Peter 3:10 - "But the day of the Lord will come like a thief.").

The comparison of the above extraordinary revelation with the content of old prophecies seems to suggest, that in present days it is the city of Christchurch, that is selected by the universal intellect to be the "City of Second Jesus". After all, it is Christchurch where there was a divine revelation that foretold His visit.

Christchurch is also the only city on Earth, which beautified and prepared itself for His arrival - in spite that its citizens later were disappointed, because they were not seeing the fiery spectacle that they expected. Furthermore, in the English language the name of this city "Christ-church" has a meaningful connotation. In addition to all this, the location of Christchurch is coinciding with old prophecies. After all, this city is located in the most Eastern country of our planet, while each new day on Earth starts in this city. Christchurch is also located in the Christian country, which as the first in the world experienced the sunrise of the new millennium. By being so special city, Christchurch undoubtedly is performing currently some symbolic role, which probably we do not realise yet. Perhaps, whatever happens in it, it expresses the symbolic essence of similar phenomena on the whole our planet. I personally believe, that Christchurch in present times is what Jerusalem used to be around 2000 years ago.

The special role that God granted to Christchurch is emphasized in practically all features of that city. For example, people who visit New Zealand and see that city, will immediately notice that God make Christchurch the only "city" in New Zealand, which was intentionally planned and purposely build as a city. The proof of that uniqueness of the pre-planned design and building, is that Christchurch is the only city in the entire New Zealand which actually has the structure of a city, means the plan of which is based on the centrally located and intentionally designed Cathedral Square. Thus, the plan of Christchurch is characteristic for typical cities of Europe and the world, in which the entire structure is based on their central squares. On the other hand, the majority of other "cities" of New Zealand is based on a single long road along which caravans of gold prospectors or cattle merchants travelled in past, while on sides of which these travellers stayed for nights constructing sheds that with the elapse of time transformed into houses. Only sparse cities of New Zealand eventuated on crossings of two roads, for example as this is the case in Invercargill or in Dunedin, while this road-crossing with the elapse of time was beautified and transformed into a kind of cramped city centre. But in reality, apart from Christchurch, NO other "city" of New Zealand have a purposely build and spacious central square. (I should remind here, that according to the English definition still respected in New Zealand, a "city is only such a human settlement which either have over 100000 inhabitants, or have its own cathedral". Until 2009 New Zealand had only 6 cities, namely - listing from north to south: Auckland, Hamilton, Wellington, Christchurch Dunedin and Invercargill. In 2009 to this category was included also the 7th city called Tauranga, which population just exceeded 100000 inhabitants.) Christchurch was also blessed by God with all other features of a "city", such as nearby natural sea port, beaches, picturesque river, a real city park and museum, and flat grounds for expanding streets and for building houses that have picturesque mountains nearby. No wonder that it was Christchurch which was privileged by God, probably receiving the honour of secretive hosting of Second Jesus in 1999 (but the question remains whether with later reactions, citizens of Christchurch actually endorsed the honour of this hospitality - compare the description of events that followed later, with item #13 below on this web page).

However, I must add here, that after the entire year 1999 has passed, and the awaited spectacular arrival of Second Jesus to Christchurch would not happen, I also stopped to maintain my interest in this matter. Although I lived until 12 February 2001 on the same island as Christchurch, the reason for which in 1999 I was repetitively driving to Christchurch disappeared (namely these preparations for the fiery spectacle of the arrival of Second Jesus were finished). I drove later several times along the orbital highway, which runs around circumference of Christchurch's suburbs, and I also used the Christchurch's airport, which is located just by this orbital highway. But after 1999 all my rides near Christchurch did not induce in me the sufficient curiosity to actually enter this city, and to see for myself what happens with these marble-like pavements of Second Jesus from the Cathedral Square. Now I regret this my failure to visit Christchurch after 1999, because as it turned out, the matter of the pavements would not finish in 1999, but it had a further follow up in 2001 and 2002. Thus, for a scientific exactitude I should watch closely and be able to report thoroughly also this further evolution of events.

This further fate of the marble-like pavements, was induced by some interesting phenomenon, which so-far I do not understand fully, but which I believe that I should investigate - if I have such an opportunity. It appears to me that the religious motivation behind the renovation of major areas of Christchurch, seemingly still bothered a lot of people even two years later, i.e. at the beginning of the year 2001. These people started then their public attacks on the effects of this renovation, and tried to destroy these effects with a wave of public hysteria. For example, on Tuesday, 13 February 2001, at 6:25 pm, Channel 1 of TVNZ broadcasted another sarcastic news item entitled "Redesigning Christchurch Square". This news item attacked again very sarcastically the newly paved City Square, by insinuating that after the renovation it has no character and that it makes a poor impression on tourists (it is worth to notice, that this type of claim is fully subjective, and it can be raised about every possible place on the Earth - actually I seen many times this square in 1999, and I know for sure that the renovation was done with a high taste and that the square indescribably gained on the elegance). In my opinion, behind these attacks stand people, who are not able to accept the religious motivation for the renovation of the central place of Christchurch, and thus who are trying to induce a kind of "artistic hysteria", which caused the removal of these "religiously motivated marble-like pavements". (My experience with such people is, that according to the "coefficient of deception" equal to 180 degrees, they never say openly what really bothers them, and therefore they always launch their attacks under any other excuse, which they can invent, and which they know that is difficult to defend.) Although at the surface it may appear that all these attacks have some physical motivation centred at the appearance of Christchurch, actually if one analyses the circumstances in which they were launched, their real but well hidden motive seemed to be an "anti-Jesus hysteria".

On Tuesday, 15 May 2001, at 18:25, evening news broadcasted on channel 1 of TVNZ, returned to the matter of instigating the rebuilding the Cathedral Square in Christchurch. After another series of vicious attacks on the marble-like pavements, another plan of "improving" of this square was proposed. This plan was thought so cunningly, that the marble-like pavements installed for the arrival of Second Jesus, supposed to become completely covered with soil on which flowers supposed to be planted and various structures supposed to be build.

Television showed various individuals, whose appearance was saying a lot, which almost hysterically or fanatically, were criticising the appearance of this square and pavement. As it is apparent, various individual pre-programmed by some evil forces, were not prepared to let it go, until the pavement installed for honouring the arrival of Second Jesus to Christchurch, is somehow removed from the view of people, or is completely dug out from this central square of the city.

For moral mechanisms and laws entire cities are simply "group intellects" described, amongst others, in items #B5 to #F4 from the web page named morals.htm and items #B2 to #B4.4 from the web page named mozajski uk.htm. Analyses of fates of such group intellects seem to indicate that God treats them as separate beings, "rewarding" or "punishing" them appropriately to the morality, philosophy, beliefs, behaviours, etc., that they practice as a whole. When watching the escalation of "anti-Jesus hysteria" in Christchurch, I personally had the impression that this particular "group intellect" wanders into the area of behaviours which can be interpreted as a kind of "war with God". So highly interesting could be to gather from the course of further events, how God is going to react to such behaviours of this particular "group intellect".

More information about the divine revelation and prophecy about the arrival of Second Jesus to Christchurch in 1999, and also about the further fate of these "tiles of Jesus" is provided in items #84 and #94 from chapter W4 in volume 18 of [monograph \[1/5\]](#), as well as in items #84 and #94 from subsection L4 in volume 8 of second edition of [monograph \[8/2\] "Totalizm"](#).

* * *

In 2010, 2011 and 2012 the city of Christchurch was hit by a series of destructive earthquakes described in items #P5 to #P7 of the web page named quake.htm and items #C5 to #C6 of the "extended version" of the web page named seismograph.htm. The first one out of these two destructive earthquakes took place on Saturday, 4th September 2010 - means (as the analysis of dates seems to indicate this) in exactly 11th anniversary of the initiation by inhabitants of Christchurch the public scoffing, persecution, and removal from the job, initially aimed at the city manager for his undertaking the preparations of the city to welcome the arrival of Second Jesus, and later turning into a kind of "war with God". The other one out of these two destructive earthquakes took place on 26th December 2010 - means in especially emphasized date of 2x13 which God seems to use to let to know the victims that He does NOT approve their beliefs and philosophy. (For more investigations, that the selection of date 26th appears not random, see item #D8 on the web page named day26.htm and also see items #B2 and #A2 on the web page seismograph.htm.) Actually, one amongst more powerful earthquakes even hit this city exactly on 13 June 2011 (it was this earthquake that, amongst others, finished the complete destruction of the Anglican Cathedral, the section of entrance to which is visible by the left edge of the photograph "a" from "Fig. #G1" below - thus clearly documenting a symbolic "message from God"). From the point of view of development of our methods of defence against cataclysms - such as the method described in details in items #J1, #P5.1 and #C1 from the web page quake.htm, while briefly explained in item #C5.1 from the web page seismograph.htm, it could turn highly beneficial to ask whether all these correlations of dates and links between events described here are just "series of coincidents" (as typically these would be described by "atheistic orthodox scientists"), or rather are replies of God to what appears to be a "war with God" which Christchurch started back in 1999.

Fig. #G1ab: Shown are details of the central "Cathedral Square" in Christchurch, New Zealand (locally called simply the "Square"). In 1999 this square was completely renewed and paved with elegant, beautiful, and rather expensive "tiles of Jesus" shown here, in order to prepare it for the arrival of Second Jesus to Christchurch. In the result of supernatural revelation described here, it was believed that after the arrival to Christchurch in fire and lightning flashes, Second Jesus is going to have a holy mass on this square for people from surrounding areas. In addition to this central "Square", in that year a huge roofed swimming pool was also prepared for the arrival of Second Jesus - because it was believed that Second Jesus will carry out numerous christenings in this pool. Furthermore, a main entry road from the direction of Timaru was modernised - because it was believed that Second Jesus is going to arrive triumphal by this road. (Click on the above photo to see it enlarged.)

Unfortunately, the majority of people is unaware of the existence and action of the so-called "canon of ambiguity" - described, amongst others, in item #B9 of the web page god.htm - about scientific replies of secular philosophy of totalism to basic questions about God. Furthermore, the majority of people do not understand, that a typical for present times reaction from atheistic holders of power and authority feeling endangered by someone's manifestation of supernatural, would be that Second Jesus also would be crucified soon after He would become recognised. Therefore, these people are unable to realise, that even if Second Jesus had to His disposal all powers of God, still He would obey this "canon of ambiguity" - means He would act humbly and privately (like every other person). Thus, even if Second Jesus really visited Christchurch in 1999, He still arrived there exactly as the Bible foretold this to us - means humbly and unrecognised "like a thief" (see Bible, 2 Peter 3:10 - "But the day of the Lord will come like a thief" or Revelation 16:15 "I am coming like a thief"). In turn, if in 1999 Second Jesus arrived to Christchurch "like a thief", then through inhabitants of Christchurch He again gave the humanity exactly the same lesson, which 2000 years earlier Jesus gave people via inhabitants of Israel. (As it is known, Israelites until today await for the prophesised Messiah, because Jesus who was sent to them by God over 2000 years ago, and whom they crucified instead of welcoming, still they consider to be too humble and too "human" to be the Messiah that was foretold for them.)

Fig. #G1a (left): The appearance of the central "Cathedral Square" from Christchurch in New Zealand. Visible are "tiles of Jesus" with which this square is paved. Also visible is "marihuana joint" which was erected later to divert the attention of people from these famous "tiles of Jesus". At the left edge of this photo is visible a section of the old Cathedral from Christchurch (in stone masonry), by the entrance of which an altar was to be erected from which Second Jesus would conduct His holy mass. If you (the reader) ever arrive to Christchurch, perhaps just in case you should take a photograph on this "Square". After all, there is no other place in the world which would be confirmed with a divine revelation experienced by a crowd of people, that it is going to be visited by Second Jesus. So practically the above square today is of what 2000 years ago was Jerusalem. The uniqueness of this square is emphasized by the fact, that by the grace of God it is the only real central square of a city that exists in the entire New Zealand. In other words, the entire New Zealand does NOT have another city which would also have the central square.

Fig. #G1b (right): Close up of elegant, beautiful, and expensive "tiles of Jesus" with which the central square of Christchurch was paved to be prepared for the arrival of Second Jesus to this city. Many inhabitants of Christchurch presently would like to get rid of these tiles from their city, but such tiles cost too much to be simply ripped off and thrown to rubbish. For more information about these tiles and the noisy persecution to which they were subjected - see items #84 and #94 from subsection W4 in volume 18 of [monograph \[1/5\]](#).

Prophecies about the arrival of Second Jesus to Christchurch in 1999, as well as fate of tiles of Jesus shown above, are also discussed in subsection L4 from volume 8 of the second edition of the [monograph \[8/2\] "Totalizm"](#).

#G3. Meaning of the "resurrection" in New Zealand seas of so-called "bird Jesus" - which walks on surfaces of churning water:

Motto: "It is worth to research consequences of reactions at the deprived of revenge behaviours of Jesus, because these reveal regularities and repetitions in the work of moral mechanisms."

If we consider the matter thoroughly, then it becomes obvious that inhabitants of Christchurch were not very inviting for Second Jesus to disclose himself and to announce his arrival to their city. (In spite that the actual sending of Second Jesus to Christchurch in 1999 was announced via a divine revelation - as described in item #G2 of this web page.) Of course, one can easily predict how today people would react, if rapidly appeared amongst them, and introduced himself as Second Jesus, someone who is so humble that he "washes feet" of other people, but simultaneously so extraordinary that just by his touch he would heal terminal illnesses, while remotely would turn water into wine and would create bread and tasty fishes from nothing. We must also remember that only the divine revelation that such Second Jesus is to come to Christchurch induced all these uninviting reactions which are described in item #G2 above. In addition, in the light of present human laws, almost all exceptionally-moral activities which in the Bible are attributed to Jesus, in present times are already illegal and punishable by law - as this is explained on examples in the next paragraph. So if Second Jesus would e.g. follow the example of Biblical Jesus and repeated his exceptionally-moral activities, then in a best case, for all these activities he would at least be locked in a prison - if not publicly lynched. In turn if he would be lynched, then the justice-guarding God would be forced to punish, persecute and spread all over the world the nation which would be responsible for this lynching (as God for millennia does this with Jews who took on themselves and on their descendants the responsibility and punishment for crucifying Biblical Jesus - see Bible, "Matthew", verse 27:25: "Let the responsibility for His death fall on us and on our children"). We must remember, that the peaceful and teaching mission of Second Jesus would NOT allow him to use his supernatural powers for silencing aggressive enemies, for making impossible his arresting, or for releasing himself from the prison. On the other hand, towards someone who looks weak - because he does NOT destroy these ones who persecute him, but only "turns another cheek", immoral people can be persistently aggressive and mischievous (which attributes manifest themselves, amongst others, by the present raise in the culture of so-called "bullying" - for details see the article "Bullying second highest in world", from page A3 of New Zealand newspaper "The Dominion Post", issue dated on Monday, December 15, 2008.) Thus, the only creature which in these circumstances would have a chance to disclose its supernatural powers and still avoid being lynched, would be someone who could NOT be accused, arrested, nor locked in a prison - because he would make mute all these people who would try to accuse him, he would kill with lightings all these who would try to arrest him, and who would simply walked out from any prison through walls - should he be imprisoned. But so acting supernatural creature would display attributes of Antichrist described on the web page antichrist.htm, not attributes of Second Jesus.

In the present formulation of human laws (which with the elapse of time become almost exactly opposite to whatever Jesus taught and did according to the Bible), almost every action which in the Bible is attributed to Jesus, for present authorities and people would appear to be illegal, punishable by law, endangering someone's interests or privileges, etc., etc. So if someone so extraordinary as Second Jesus, after the arrival to the city of Christchurch would reveal himself to local inhabitants, then probably he at least would immediately be accused (and sent to a prison) for a whole array of "crimes" which he would supposedly commit against law, authorities, someone's interests, etc. So let us list here at least several examples of activities of Jesus known from the Bible, which in present times would be considered to be illegal, punishable, sensitive, irritating, etc. In order to be able to reveal the truth, without offending anyone's feelings (after all, "without learning the truth there is no progress" - for details see item #K1 on the web page named morals.htm), let us try to formulate examples provided here in a humorous manner similarly as humorously was formulated the entire this item, hoping that the reader displays the required sense of humour during reading these examples and that my English is able to reveal the humorous side to these examples. And so, the famous (a) creation of bread and giving it away to crowds, in present times would immediately be illegal and exposing the creator to punishments for at least several reasons. After all, the bread which would be created would NOT have the required documentation that it obeys governmental food standards, that it contains ingredients prescribed by these standards - as this is explained in item #E2 on the web page named cooking.htm, that people employed in producing and giving away this bread received payments which were not less than the established by government minimal hourly rate, that paid were taxes required from producers and distributors of bakery products, that its creator can present a diploma that entitles him to produce bread, that the creator and people who give the bread away went through the required health checks and have valid certificates that they are NOT carriers of any dangerous illness, etc., etc. In turn if Second Jesus would try to e.g. (b) create fishes and give these to crowds, then he would get into even worse legal problems. After all, then immediately he would be accused, that he poached and get in possession illegally, large number of tasty fishes, without being able to present a governmentally issued licence of a professional fisherman, that he have not purchased and met governmental quotas for catching these fishes, that his fishes are most probably of the protected species and e.g. forbidden size, that he sabotages the economy by bankrupting fish supply market, etc., etc. Similarly e.g. (c) miraculous turning water into wine would expose him to accusations of encouraging under-aged to alcoholism, of sabotaging wine yards and production of wines, of carrying out production activities without required licensing, of avoidance of taxes from goods and services by avoiding pricing and not returning GST (VAT), etc., etc. In turn e.g. (d) miraculous healings would unleash accusations of illegal practicing medicine without having a recognised diploma of a medical doctor and without previous registration in medical doctors register, of experimenting on people by using scientifically untested medicines and methods of healing, of discrimination because choosing for healing only moral people and refusing to heal immoral people, etc., etc. Also e.g. ordinary (e) public teaching, masses, and christening would attract accusations of disturbing public peace, of organising masses without priori applying for permits from authorities, of public spreading of information which undermines privileges of selected groups in society, claims of science, etc. Furthermore, in his activities Second Jesus would be exposed to persecution and punishments for example because of (f) NOT paying taxes and fees for the hiring and use of public facilities for his gatherings, of (g) insubordination and undermining the authority because he would do miracles in public while would refuse to provide written explanations why his miracles do not endanger safety of passers by, of (h) disobedience to guidelines for educators by inclusion of religious (and thus "politically incorrect") messages into his teachings, of (i) undermining the human rights through open and public disapproval of homosexuals, of (j) persuading population to break "anti-smacking law" (the one described in item #B5.1 of the web page named will.htm) through arguing that for the good of parents and for the good of children parents should discipline their young with rods, of (k) disobedience of the "privacy laws" by talking publicly about God Father, of (l) breaking "copyright laws" by repetition in public of the Bible's content, etc., etc. Of course, independently from the above examples of causes, which would expose Second Jesus to the force of law, his appearance in present times would probably unleash numerous reasons for almost everyone to feel towards him a strong irritation and resentment. (In turn, this irritation and resentment, with the elapse of time could probably become a source of very uninviting reactions of crowds.) For example, he could be accused of illegal immigration, because he would NOT be able to present a proof of legal citizenship. Local population could be angry, that to his role and at his position God employed an emigrant from heaven, instead of giving this job to a local person. No matter of what race he would belong to, all other races probably would take it for racism and bias. Some women would probably accuse him of sexism, and become angry that he did not arrive as a woman. Males could not take the fact that about every topic he knows and is able incomparably more than they do themselves. Priests could take against him that he is not from their ranks. Scientists would not forgive him that he contradicts their claims on non-existence of God, and that he reveals their errors in thinking. Wealthy and greedy people would be angry that he condemns the greed and excessive salaries, illustrating with personal example that poor people have better morality. Politicians would not be able to take that he reveals truths and teaches actual care for other people - instead of just talking about such care but thinking of only own interests, etc., etc. As it is visible from the above humorous explanations, if Second Jesus actually revealed himself - as this was foretold by the divine revelation described in item #G2 of this web page, then his final fate would NOT be much different from the final fate of Biblical Jesus.

The finding stemming from above examples (of intentional humorous formulation) is that almost all actions which the Bible attributes to Jesus, in present times would be illegal and punishable by authorities, by law, and even by the population for the good of which these actions were undertaken. Of course, it is sure that being a son of God, Jesus did only these actions which in long-term serve for the good of people and which God requested that he shows to people as morally correct examples for following. After all, according to the definition provided in item #B5 of the web page named morals.htm, "in the world ruled by God, morality should be understand as the strictness with which someone fulfils God's commandments in the everyday life". Thus, if the present laws forbid doing whatever is agreeable with commandments and requirements of God, this means that with punishments and with force these laws push people to act "immorally". So instead of reinforcing and supporting moral activities of people, present laws support and reinforce immorality. This means that in spite of considering ourselves to be more "civilised" than people which lived on the Earth around 2000 years ago, actually we all are more immoral than them. This our present top immorality in the history of the Earth is easy to notice even when one just reads headings from today newspapers. No wonder that life on the Earth started to be so miserable recently, if we all act so much against God's wishes.

There are numerous consequences of the shocking fact, that in the light of content of present laws and present human ways, almost everything that Biblical Jesus did (and thus also everything that Second Jesus would probably do - should He reveal His presence to people) would be illegal, punishable by law, and by some people considered to be highly offensive and acting against their privileges. The most important amongst these consequences is that (i) in present immoral times Second Jesus could NOT reveal to people His presence and activities on the Earth, even if God already send Him to us and even if He secretly acts amongst people. After all, if He revealed to people his presence, then probably He would be fast lynched by the disturbed mob - again experiencing a similar fate as Biblical Jesus did. In turn such lynching would NOT have justification in present times. Thus God would be forced to react on it with some severe punishment - e.g. with a destruction of almost the entire humanity (like in times of Biblical deluge). Another amongst these consequences is that (ii) if God is forced to send to the Earth a "teacher" of some kind, then this messenger from God will be able to teach people only through the demonstration of outcomes of the "reversal of moral behaviours", means demonstration of outcomes of "evilness". In other words, as the morality of humans decreases, a time is coming when the Earth is to be visited by an indescribably evil creature foretold to us under the name of "Antichrist" - as this is explained more comprehensively on the web page named antichrist.htm. After all, this Antichrist would also teach people morality with the method of "reversed logic" known best from the institution of the "awkward fellow" in the Polish army - as this is described in item #B7.2 on the web page named seismograph.htm and in item #C3.4 from the web page named morals.htm. Only that instead of teaching morality through being moral, Antichrist would teach people morality with a much more effective method through illustrating to all people why it is NOT permitted to be immoral and what are long-term outcomes of immorality. Yet another consequences of the fact, that in present times Second Jesus would be lynched soon after he would reveal himself to people, is that (iii) God is forced to let somehow people know that He does NOT approve the present situation nor the direction in which the humanity is moving. Of course, His disapproval God is able to express in many different ways. One amongst these ways is surely the treatment of people with increasingly more powerful "cataclysms" which always affect these most immoral communities and individuals - as this is described the totaliztic web page named seismograph.htm. Other, symbolic although highly meaningful way of God's sending to us a message that He does NOT approve of whatever happens on the Earth, was probably a "resurrection" of the extraordinary "bird Jesus" which walks over continually churning seas near New Zealand. This bird is described in next sub-item. It seems to be a messenger which brings to us rather a meaningful message.

#G3.1. There are puzzling cause-effect parallels between the present arrival of "bird Jesus" to churning seas of New Zealand, and previous arrival of Biblical Jesus to ancient Israel:

God works in a mysterious way. Since inhabitants of Christchurch (and New Zealand) would not accept Second Jesus who most probably was sent to them in 1999, it appears that God "resurrected" in New Zealand seas the "bird Jesus". The official name of this bird is "storm petrel". The phrase "bird Jesus" is just its "nickname". Bird-Jesus also walks on the surface of sea - similarly as in past this was done by Biblical Jesus. Slightly more comprehensive description of this bird is provided in item #F4.1.3 from the totaliztic web page named stawczyk uk.htm. But the supernatural and extraordinary features of this bird do NOT finish on the "walking on water". After all, apart from this (1) "walking along the surface of sea", like Jesus (contradictory to the claims of official science which states that such walking is physically impossible), this bird was officially described as "extinct" already for the last around 150 years. So its parallels to Jesus is also confirmed by the fact that (2) God "recalled" this bird from the "extinction", means that, similarly like Jesus, this bird was also "resurrected". In addition our eyes hits in this bird a close cause-effect link to the fate of Christchurch. After all (3) God "resurrected" this bird in the extremely meaningful for Christchurch (and for New Zealand) moment of time (i.e. soon after inhabitants of Christchurch definitively rejected the possibility of the arrival of Second Jesus to their city, thus probably forcing him to visit their city secretly and anonymously - like a thief). In addition, this bird (4) did NOT appear in waters of some worldly-significant country, e.g. USA, Russia, China, or Japan, but just in insignificant New Zealand (similarly like Jesus instead of appearing in Rome, appeared in then insignificant Israel). Also vital is that (5), similarly as in past the Biblical Jesus appeared in the most eastward country of then historically-significant world, today the "bird-Jesus" also appeared in the most eastward country of the present world - i.e. in New Zealand (in which actually every day begins that comes to our planet). In addition, (6) similarly like Biblical Jesus walked and acted in the midst of a churning human world, currently "bird Jesus" symbolically walks over continually churning waves of so-called "roaring 40s" of oceans in the vicinity of New Zealand. It is also not an accident, that (7) inhabitants of Christchurch behaved uninvitingly regarding the possible arrival of Second Jesus - similarly as inhabitants of ancient Israel rejected the arrival of Biblical Jesus, that (8) soon afterwards Christchurch probably started to bear consequences of this rejection - similarly as such consequences for millennia seem to bear descendants of ancient Israelites, and that (9) it is not in power of inhabitants of Christchurch to reject and to stop the "second coming" of this bird (as probably their behaviour stopped the arrival of Second Jesus to their city), and thus that everyone can now see the bird and check whether it really was resurrected and it really walks on the surface of sea. Of course, present scientists, and also atheists, probably are to ignore or to dismiss the significance of all the above parallels - perhaps by taking stand that all these are just purely coincidental. However, in such a case it would be worth to ask them, whether they are aware how astronomically improbable is that two completely independent series of events, i.e. one of a religious-social character (i.e. divine revelation of the arrival of Second Jesus and consequences of an uninviting reaction to this revelation), while second of an ornithological character (i.e. the "second coming of bird-Jesus"), would display cause-effect parallels in so many different areas!

Everything that God does, He carries out in such a manner that it does NOT deprive anyone of so-called "free will" - as this is explained more comprehensively e.g. in item #C1 from the web page named tornado.htm. Therefore also when God sent this "bird Jesus" to New Zealand, He did it in such a manner that with its behaviour the bird comply to requirements of the so-called "canon of ambiguity" - more comprehensively described in item #C2 on the web page named will.htm. Therefore, in spite that the "bird Jesus" walks on the surface of sea, still it does it in such a manner that everybody can interpret this according to his or her own view of the world. For example, it spreads its wings to keep a balance on waving water - similarly like people would spread their hands when they walk along a rubble of huge movable boulders with wavy surfaces similar to surfaces of wavy seas. Therefore the so-called "atheistic orthodox scientists" (i.e. representatives of this monopolistic official science which philosophically erroneous approach "a posteriori" to research is described more comprehensively in item #C1 of the web page named telekinetics.htm and in item #A2.6 of the web page named totalizm.htm) can also claim that this bird do NOT walk on water, but just hovers above the surface of sea with the power of its wings. After all, ordinary people do NOT have capabilities and means to check how erroneous is such a claim of the official science. (It is worth to notice, that the sole fact that the official science already parted from truths by so much, that it even does NOT consider the possibility of supernatural phenomena existing in our world, just in itself is one amongst reasons why God is forced to support restoration of truths by intentional generation of just such phenomena.)

#G3.2. Sending of "bird Jesus" in so meaningful circumstances and times, symbolically passes to us a coded "message" from God:

Whenever God does something, he always has a superior goal in mind. According to item #B2 from the web page named will.htm this goal always somehow serves to the "pursue of knowledge". In case of "bird Jesus", independently how someone would interpret the principle on which this bird walks on the surface of sea, still it cannot be denied that just the sole fact of its "resurrection" in seas of New Zealand in the described above very noticeable time and circumstances, carries a meaningful message from God. The existence of this message is so obvious that one needs to be blind to meanings of symbolisms to not notice it. However, the content of this message for many would turn to be too sensitive and too unwanted for even considering its existence, not mentioning the acceptance of whatever it says. Thus, I leave to the discretion of the reader to work out what this message states.

At this point it is worth to mention, that some relationships with the bird-Jesus probably also display events described in items #C5 to #C6 of the web page named seismograph.htm.

Part #H: "People are going to bring on themselves such a destructive catastrophe, that afterwards a man is going to be so happy to see footprints of another man that he is going to kiss these footprints":

#H1. The old Polish prophecy about the incoming self-inflicted wiping out of the majority of people:

In times of my youth, means in years 1950s and already after the World War Two, old people in Poland frequently used to repeat still another prophecy. This old Polish prophecy stated that soon people are going to bring on themselves so devastating catastrophe, that in the result of it the Earth become almost completely depopulated. After this mass wiping out of people that closes in, so few individuals supposed to survive, that after the destruction is finished, then according to the prophecy "when a man sees footprints of another man, he will be so thrilled that from the happiness he is going to kiss these footprints".

What supposed to be the reason for this murderous catastrophe, and how it is going to manifest itself, the old-timers were unable to explain. But they were sure of several attributes of it, which will characterise this man-made catastrophe that is approaching. Let us now list most vital out of these attributes:

(1) It is NOT going to be the catastrophe caused by the nature nor by the so-called "will of God". Means, old-timers were decisive in their prophecies, that this catastrophe is NOT going to be of a natural or Godly origins, but the reason for it will be people themselves (i.e. it is not going to be e.g. a flood, nor a meteorite impact, nor earthquake, nor volcano eruptions, nor anything "natural" - but it will be caused by people themselves).

(2) This "wiping out of people" will NOT be that prophesied the "end of the world". Means, after it takes place, the humanity will gradually heal the wounds and repopulate the Earth again, although then it is NOT going to be the same humanity as before. I.e. people will then be different than are now. Talking here about the "end of world", it is NOT going to come as soon as is prophesised by many present individuals who desire fame or money - which fact I am trying to explain in more details, amongst others, in item #N1 from my web page named quake.htm.

(3) The catastrophe is to come soon. Means, old-timers already were prophesised then, i.e. in Poland of 1950s, that from this catastrophe we are only tens of years apart, not for example hundreds or thousands of years. This in turn would mean, that this catastrophe supposed to arrive to the Earth rather soon, as after 2050s it would already elapse over 100 years since that prophesising.

(4) This catastrophe will NOT be caused by a war. This part of the old prophecy was the most strange. After all, the only way for a mass wiping out of humans (apart from the disaster caused by nature or by "will of God") which people of 1950s could imagine and describe, was the murderous "third world war". But this prophecy decisively claimed that it is NOT going to be a war. For this reason many people from my generation were then speculating about this prophecy, that probably it is going to be a kind of "accident" with nuclear weapon, which will destroy the humanity - similarly as this would be done by the "third world war" - although due being an "accident" it will NOT be a war.

(5) In some relationship with this wiping out of the humanity, supposed to also fulfil numerous other old Polish prophecies. For example, in connection with this wiping out, or soon afterwards, supposed to eventuate the "Poland from a sea to a sea" - i.e. supposed to be returned to Poland its old territories that extend from the Baltic Sea to the Black Sea. Also, some relationship with it supposed to have yet another old Polish prophecy, stating that "the yellow race will reign over the world". Already now it can be foreseen, that this change of the nations that reigns over the world, will occur just then, because in the face of rising threats from the source of this incoming destruction, one of the countries from the Southeast Asia is to build the all-powerful Magnocraft of my invention, so that with the help of it, either get an access to unlimited resource of space, or to defend itself with this swift ship from waves of starved residents of neighbouring countries who have already succumbed to anarchy, whereupon like locusts began to flood in waves, ravage, and destroy areas of countries which do NOT have the forces or means to effective defence their interiors from this human locusts - as it is described in the sub-item #H1.1 below. After all, from history it is known, that the change of nation and the country that is leading the world is always like a by-product of the dramatic times and the fundamental changes which these dramatic times bring about to the situation of the whole humanity.

On the basis of growing trends for anarchy, lawlessness, hunger and savagery that already in 2013 clearly started to show up in a number of places on Earth, we can already now predict, that the reason for the destruction of the greater proportion of mankind will be famine, anarchy, barbarism, robberies and banditry which will be diffused over the world, and reasons and process of which are described in more detail in item #H3 below. I mean, for certainty it is NOT going to be a nuclear third world war, which predicts a number of home-grown visionaries, in spite that the possibility of its occurrence is eliminated by deductions from items #N1 and #N2 of the web page named quake.htm - although it may happen that the beginning of this murderous famine and anarchy will be, for example, a terrorist or accidental dropping of a nuclear bomb on an economically very important area of the world.

After the spread of Internet, I was surprised to discover, that similar old prophecies about the diminishing of most of the people are known also to numerous other nations. A good example of these is the prophecy about so-called "Third Great Shake" disseminated in Internet by American Hopi Indians.

#H1.1. "Why" the foretelling that it will be Korea that is to build Magnocrafts of my invention, and that is to become the next (and last) nation which is to reign over the world, is contained in the method of God's acting, and, amongst others, in the old Polish prophecy which states that "the yellow race is to reign over the world":

Motto: "God likes to surprise people by implementing of whatever almost everyone considers to be improbable or impossible."

Our world slowly approaches the year of 2036. In turn, from regularities inherent in the so-called "Periodic Table for Propulsion Systems" discussed below, it stems that around the year of 2036 the all-powerful starship of my invention, called the "Magnocraft" is to be built on Earth. This my starship will probably be built to carry people to stars, and to make available unlimited resources of space to its builders. However, probably an additional impulse to undertake the construction of the Magnocraft is also going to be the need to defend the country of its owners against waves of starved residents of neighbouring countries, who in future will fall to anarchy as a result of deepening processes of law and order collapse, beginnings of which began to be clearly visible already in 2013 as they are consequences of the global economic crisis of 2008. After all, the current continually worsening process of loosing the respect for the rule of law and for public order, must inevitably lead to anarchy, collapse of food production, and to the creation of waves of starved people who like locusts are to attack neighbouring countries to also destroy their food production and initiate anarchy. So future countries where the rule of law is to still prevail, will be forced to defend themselves somehow against these waves of desperately hungry people from countries that have already fallen to anarchy - as in item #C2 of the web page named petone.htm I explained that for circumstances of formation of the "chapel of skulls" from Czermna near Kudowa Zdrój, on the territory of Lower Silesia from present Poland. In turn, the most effective defence against these waves of starved neighbours will be just my swift Magnocraft capable of the formation of impassable "belt of death" around country's borders. After all, in case of the collapse of many countries and the global loss of access to raw materials and to fuels, armies of countries which still are to maintain the rule of law are to run out of ammunition, petrol, and soldiers to be able to defend themselves against these growing numbers of bands of starved and determined people. So it is easy to predict that when anarchy and famine is to spread around the world, many countries will suddenly start desperate efforts to build my Magnocraft. Most of these countries probably will NOT have enough time to complete the construction and earlier are to also fall victims to rampant anarchy and famine. After all, the completion of the Magnocraft even with the most vigorous efforts of a novices team, still take many years - as determined and explained, among others, in item #J3 from my web page named magnocraft.htm. However, one of these countries probably is to build this starship on time - thus saving itself in this way against the fall, and starting a new era on Earth. After all, the "by-product" of the Magnocraft's construction will be that my starship will turn the country which as the first in the world that starts to have it, into the global superpower and the new leader of mankind - and this is to happen no matter how small this country would be and what is the number of its population. This is because the military capabilities of my starship no-one is to be able to resist - as explained in more details in items #E1 to #E22 from the web page named military_magnocraft.htm. For example, it suffices around 12 hours of time, to turn a mid-sized European country, such as England, France, or Germany, into a complete desert just by a single Magnocraft. In this sub-item #H1.1 I am going to explain how methods of God, as well as other kinds of premises and evidence (e.g. the old Polish prophecy which states that "the yellow race is to reign over the world"), allow to predict already now, that the country which as the first in the world is to build my Magnocraft, and then which in a completely unintended manner is to reign over the world because God is to promote it to become the next leader of the Earth, is to be the tiny Korea. I suggest the reader remembers this prediction. After all, the year 2036 is already near. Majority of readers of this sub-item #H1.1 thus receive the privilege of being able to say, that they personally read yet in 2014 this prediction of the upcoming era of hunger, chaos, anarchy, loss of access to raw materials and to fuels, lack of law enforcements and fall-downs of statehoods, and induced by this human-caused disaster a revolutionary transformation of our world, that after the year 2036 these readers will be able to see with their own eyes.

Deductions on which are based predictions described here about building my Magnocraft by Korea and about the incoming leadership of Korea over the world, stem from the finding, that in all the activities of God exists an amazing continuity and is strictly observed the "principle of cause and effect". For example, my invention of the "Magnocraft" has NOT "fell from heaven above", but it is an outcome of my diligent analysis on a kind of "Periodic Table for Propulsion Systems", which I developed (or invented) yet in 1972. This table is described more comprehensively in item #B1 from the web page named propulsion.htm. It is a kind of "Mendeleyev Table" - only that instead of the characteristics of successive chemical elements, my "Periodic Table for Propulsion Systems" describes features of subsequent propelling devices to be invented and built on Earth, and indicates the approximate years when these propelling devices are to be built. It is through the analysis of regularities imbedded in my "Periodic Table for Propulsion Systems" that already in 1980 I managed to invent and to work out my Magnocrafts, which, according to this table, are to be built only around the year 2036, while in 1983 I managed to invent and to work out the Oscillatory

Chamber- which is to supply power to my Magnocrafts. Also, my "Periodic Table for Propulsion Systems" allowed me to invent and to work out the construction and operation of Time Vehicles - which are to open access to immortality for people, while building of which on Earth is quite necessary also for God as e.g. "without the learning of construction and operation of Time Vehicles, people are NOT able to truly understand God nor the Bible". The above sequence of my inventions, each one of which was the "cause" for the inventions that followed it, and was the "effect" for the inventions that took place before it, quite clearly documents how God consistently implements this "principle of cause and effect" in all His activities.

Relying on this God's consistency in everything that God is doing, and also knowing about the operation of the God's software entity - which in item #C4 from my web page named immortality.htm is described under the name of "omniplan", I am able to deduce on their base "why" in the years that immediately followed my inventions of the "Magnocraft" and the "Oscillatory Chamber", none of the countries with predominantly European population has answered my numerous appeals and pleadings to allow me to build for them these futuristic strategic propelling devices. After all, my letters explaining exactly what is my Magnocraft and my Oscillatory Chamber, and informing precisely what would be the program of my research after the adoption and execution of which the working prototypes of these powerful devices of my invention would be accomplished, were sent to virtually every institution which could allow me to build these devices, and which was located in countries such as the USA, England, France, Germany, Australia, and New Zealand. Job applications I also posted to practically almost every university in Poland, letting to know in them that I am the inventor of the Magnocraft and the Oscillatory Chamber, and that I would undertake the construction and testing of these devices during my employment at their university. However, none of these institutions from the countries to which I addressed my pleading has expressed their consent nor gave me a chance to built for them my Magnocraft or my Oscillatory Chamber. In turn, all universities in which I was taking any available job to at least be able to make a living, not only that do NOT allowed me to openly carry out research on the Magnocraft and on the Oscillatory Chamber, but also actively prevented me from carrying out such research. When, in spite of prohibition, I too much insisted on carrying out these research, then these institutions under any pretext "fired" me from the job - as it has done very openly the New Zealand's "University of Otago".

Near the end of 2007 I ceased active efforts of trying to build for someone my Magnocraft and my Oscillatory Chamber - although even now I am still maintaining a passive readiness to consider possibility of helping the nation and the country which turns to me with a request for a moral and intellectual support of its efforts to build the Magnocraft and the Oscillatory Chamber. Instead of those my previous active efforts, in 2007 I began a long-term research program into the methods of God's action - as it is more fully described in items #H4 and #H3 from my web page named prawda uk.htm. Till the end of 2013 this new research program has allowed me to discover and to confirm scientifically what the Bible states for millennia, and what I explained in items #H1 to #H7 of that web page named prawda uk.htm as well as in items #C1 to #C9 from the web page named god_exists.htm, but what most people ignore because the official science tells us misleadingly that "God does NOT exist". Namely, this research allowed me to discover and to confirm scientifically, that God with an "iron hand" controls virtually everything that happens on Earth and in our part of the universe - means God even controls the fate and history of every truth and the amount of pain and suffering that each person must endure and experience. This discovery explains also, that in fact it was God who discreetly controlled the insistence of countries with a predominantly European population to prevent the building for them of my Magnocraft and my Oscillatory Chamber. In turn this explaining leads to the next conclusion, namely that the building so powerful technical devices as my "Magnocraft" and my "Oscillatory Chamber" in countries with a predominantly European population, definitely does NOT lie in God's plans. After all, if it lies in God's plans, then even if it was too early for these devices to be build, still God would at least let me started their construction for a country with predominantly European population. This is because these powerful devices are intellectual products of entire my life, and thus are kinds of my "intellectual children" - while it is known that God always supports human efforts of taking care of the future of own "children".

The finding that in plans of God does NOT lie that devices which carry the potential to lift a whole new country and a new nation to the role of the new leader of the world, are to be build in countries with a predominantly European population, points out to something rather shocking. Namely, it implies that in God's plans lies the not-too-distant taking away the leadership of the world from the hands of nations with predominantly European race, and giving this leadership to new hands of the nation from a race completely different than Europeans, while the main instrument in this change of leadership over the world becomes the Magnocraft of my invention. Who in turn will be these future leaders of the world, is quite clearly indicated by the old Polish prophecy stating that "the yellow race will reign over the world". However, the "yellow race" is actually many different nations, countries and cultures - because virtually the entire South-East Asia. So the next question for which it is worth to look for answers, is "which one amongst these nations will be promoted by God to be the next superpower and the next leader of the world?" (It is worth to also realize, that according to foretelling from the Bible, that next leader of the world will also be the last leader before the loss of usefulness to God of the present form of our physical world, and before the creation by God of the next world announced in the Bible, in which people will live infinitely long - for hints see item #J3 from the web page named malbork_uk.htm.)

A lot of countries from the South-East Asia can already be eliminated from consideration based on the knowledge of goals and methods of God's actions. For example, the goal for which God gives leadership over the world in hands of increasingly different nation and country, is to test practically how a given combination of the national characteristics of the people is doing in governing over a collection of different nations with different cultures and characteristics. Because of this God's goal, every nation and country receives the leadership over the world only once in the entire history of the Earth, while after this test God already knows whatever He wanted to learn, and thus gives the leadership into different hands. In the South-East Asia, China and Japan had already received their chances for leadership of the world. So they can therefore be eliminated from further consideration. Moreover, during that God's test, the moral behaviour of Japan was quite despicable - this, in conjunction with the work of karma, explains for example the repetitive nuclear problems of Japan (e.g. those problems described in items #M1 to #M2 from my web page named telekinetics.htm). Other countries, e.g. Cambodia and Thailand, can also be eliminated on the basis of the chaos that prevails in them. After all, before one gets from God the privilege of ruling over the entire world, one first must prove that is capable to properly govern in one's own country - as to the future leaders of the world cannot relate the old Polish saying that this country "is build on anarchy" (in Polish "nierządem stoi"). So there remains only very few amongst these nations of the "yellow race", the candidacy of which should be seriously considered.

A whole range of different premises indicates which exactly nation and which country from the South-East Asia can be this next superpower and the leader of the world - the last before the end of the current phase of the existence of the Earth (and before the "end of the world" which historically rather a close date probably indicates item #N1 from the web page named quake.htm). Each of these premises is completely independent of the others. However, they all consistently indicate that the next (and the last) leader of the world will become Korea. Let us list here the most important amongst these premises. Here they are:

1. That important old Polish prophecy, stating that "the yellow race will reign over the world". Note here that nowadays the "yellow race" typically is associated with China. However, in the old Poland China had a special respect and position. Thus, in the past, the Poles have always referred to China under the name of China - for an example of such referencing see the old poem about "kuramina", cited on the web page healing_kuramina.htm while described in items #H1 and #F5 from the web page named healing.htm. So the use in this old Polish prophecy discussed here of the expression "yellow race" (instead of the specific name of the nation), adds itself to the previous explanation that China has long ago passed the divine test for the role as the leader of the world, and confirms further that this old Polish prophecy refers to a nation other than China - for example, to Korea.

2. The economy of Korea. If we notice what already the small South Korea managed to achieve, and extrapolate this to the time when the South Korea is joined by starving people from the today's North Korea, then it will allow us to realize what is actually happening in the world today, and where are going the present developments of the situation.

3. The seriousness and determination which lie in the nature of Koreans. These their national characteristics are hitting eyes in their country. For example, whatever Koreans do, they are investing in it all their zeal and all the energy - for examples see my web page named korea.htm. How drastically different they are from lately so goalless people of Europe, America, or even from nearby Japan.

4. The moral correctness of the "attitude towards truths" in Koreans. This attitude is discussed in more detail in items #H2 and #H7 from my web page named prawda_uk.htm. For God it is the basic criterion which decides about someone's rises or falls. According to my personal experience, in the South Korea that "attitude to the truths" is the closest to the one required by God, from all the countries that I had the opportunity to visit and get to know in my life.

5. Impressive level of morality in Korea. This level I noted during my professorship in the South Korea. I described it in item #I1 from my web page named quake.htm. In turn we have to keep in mind here the finding of a new "totaliztic science" that "morality is the key to everything" - for examples that prove the truth of this finding, see item #B4 from the web page morals.htm, item #A1 from the web page totalizm.htm, item #P1 from the web page changelings.htm, or item #H7 from the web page prawda uk.htm. According to this finding of the new "totaliztic science" (i.e. this new science that is described in items #C1 to #C6 from the web page named telekinetics.htm), also the leadership over the world God always gives into the hands of nation which in given times exhibits the highest level of morality among its ordinary citizens. The mechanism which governs the relationship between the average level of morality of the nation, and the role and fate of this nation, is described in more details on a number of my web pages discussing the phenomena of the so-called "curse of inventors" and the "inventive impotency" - for an example of description of this mechanism see item #H6 from the web page named prawda uk.htm.

6. My repeated empirical experience, that wherever God sends me, always He has very important reasons for this sending. Also, always these God's reasons for sending me to a given place turned out to have a vital link with the morality, methods of God's acting, and with the increase of human knowledge about God. For example, when in 1982 God sent me to the city of Christchurch, the reason was to give me a chance to learn exactly the level of so-called "group morality" in the city that in 2011 God was going to destroy with earthquakes described here briefly in item #G2, while discussed in detail in items #P6 and #P7 from the separate web page named quake.htm. Since God has sent me to the South Korea onto 10-month long professorship, He allowed me to make important discoveries out there and to complete breakthrough formal proofs, and He gave me the opportunity to publish in there my newest [monograph \[1/5\]](#), all of this taken together for sure means, that in God's plans Korea has an unique role to play.

7. Statements of the Bible. The Bible quite clearly emphasizes, that the future (and last) leader of the world will be "the Beast that speaks like a dragon" - for an example see the Biblical "Book of Revelation", verse 13:11, discussed more comprehensively in item #H7 of my web page named prawda uk.htm. In turn "dragon" is actually a symbol of the culture of Korea, in which it is present in virtually every aspect of the local tradition, history and folklore.

8. Already today's presence in the South Korea all the attributes of a superpower, except for those that to Koreans can give the building of my Magnocraft - that is except for the "power" over other countries. In other words, the today's South Korea has established a required level of morality, resourcefulness, economic prosperity, skills of effective teamwork, correct methods of governance and administration of their own country, skills of peaceful dealing with aggressive and dangerous neighbours, etc. The only thing that it still lacks to become the superpower which governs over the world, is the "power" over other nations and other countries. However, from the definition of "power over others" it is known that "power" is having something that others desire, or that others are afraid of. For example, it is precisely because of this definition of "power", that wives have power over their husbands in all the countries where the law enforces the monogamy amongst their citizens - as this is explained in item #J2.2.2 from my web page named morals.htm. It is also for this reason that governments have power over their citizens (after all, governments have police, courts and prisons), and that superpowers have power over the governments of other countries (after all, superpowers have armies, powerful economies, and the dominance of markets). However, although the building of the Magnocraft of my invention will probably be initiated because of completely different reasons explained at the beginning of this sub-item #H1.1 - for example, defending its food production against waves of desperately hungry people from countries that already have fallen into anarchy, or access to unlimited resources of the universe, the very fact of having Magnocraft will provide Korea with something that is desired by others and that others are afraid of. After all, my Magnocraft, while later also my Time Vehicle, is just what others will both want and be afraid of - for details see item #E5, or items #E1 to #E22, from the web page named military magnocraft.htm, or items #L3 and #L4 from the web page named magnocraft.htm, or subsections G14 to G14.2 from volume 3 of my newest [monograph \[1/5\]](#).

There is, of course, much more premises similar to these listed above, than just these 8 which I decided to indicate here. Easily can be listed even more than 12 of these premises. Thus, the scientific method of proving that is based on "matching of attributes" - i.e. the method described, amongst others, in item #G3 from the web page named god proof.htm, allows for the formulation of these premises into a formal scientific proof. However, I do NOT see a need to prove here the truth of whatever soon is to be revealed to everyone. After all, the year 2036 is not far. Afterwards everyone will be able to visually see with own eyes which of these predictions prove to be true. Moreover, in today's hypocritical times, almost every truth causes that someone feels offended and may start a harassment - while the purpose of this sub-item #H1.1 is only to explain scientifically of what is coming, not to motivate someone for starting a harassment.

While reviewing the content of this sub-item #H1.1 it is worth to keep in mind the purpose and the principle of operation of that software entity pre-programmed by God and described under the name "omniplan", among others, in item #C3 of my web page named immortality.htm. After all, everything that is to happen in the future, including the fulfilment of prophecies, is just like a "by-product" of the operation of this "omniplan". However, the goal of the use of this "omniplan" by God, is NOT at all the fulfilment of old prophecies, but is the upbringing of people into moral, resourceful, efficient, and battle-hardened "soldiers of God" - as this is explained in item #B1.1 from the web page named antichrist.htm. But the principle of operation of this "omniplan" is that in order to train people onto these "soldiers of God", God is forced to repeat several times almost the entire course of their lives, each time iteratively improving the kinds of experiences to which God subjects subsequent people. As a result, although we do NOT notice it, both past and future are in the state of ongoing improvements, changes, and "flux" - as it is explained in more details in item #C3 above. Thus, although this constant state of "flux" of all events, is unable to change the "what" is to happen - that has already been pre-programmed by God in His "omniplan", still it continually may change "how" it is to happen, "when" this occurs, "whom" and "how" it is to affect, etc. In other words, while getting acquainted with the content of this sub-item #H1.1 one should be aware, that the purpose and the principle of operation of this divine "omniplan" causes, that old prophecies quite accurately reveal "what is to happen". However, due to the continual improvement by God of the course of events that affect individual people, these prophecies are unable to precisely define "when it happens", "how it affects someone", etc.

To summarize this sub-item #H1.1, both the premises already discussed above, as well as a whole bunch of other premises the discussing of which here I am abandoning, all of them indicate quite clearly that this "yellow race" which will soon become the next leader and a leading country of our world, will be Korea - as I already tried to justify this in item #H1 from my web page named military_magnocraft.htm, while the moral reasons for this incoming situation I have tried to emphasize, among others, in item #I1 from my web page named quake.htm. In turn the only mechanism that is able to elevate the tiny Korea to the role of future leader which is going to reign over the entire world and which is to control everything that in this world is going to happen, is the not-too-distant completion of my Magnocraft and my Oscillatory Chamber in Korea.

Reviewing the above forecast of mine, it is worth that the reader directs his attention, that the future superpower role of Korea will be reached on completely different principles than principles of the rules of every other superpowers that existed on Earth. After all, the other superpowers for achieving "power" over other nations and countries, have used the size of their armies, their large size, the power of their economy, huge population, etc. I mean, the to-date superpowers dominated other nations and countries by threat of size and power of their army and of size and power of their economy. On the other hand, the superpower of Korea will be based on the advancement of its technology. Hence, it will be impressing other nations with the speed and outreach of their Magnocrafts, effectiveness of their governance and decisions, dominion over the flow of information and energy, etc. No wonder that under its rules will be able to fulfil the biblical prophecies of the type that people who are NOT going to have a "sign of the beast" will NOT be able to even buy or sell anything. Indeed, these amongst readers of above descriptions, who will still remember them in the exciting future time when predictions described here begin to fulfil, and when a drastic transformation of life on Earth actually starts to take place before their eyes, will get a chance to experience truly "interesting times" and really interesting changes on Earth.

As typically it happens with every logically correct forecast for the future, taking it into account in most cases turns out to be very beneficial for those who have drawn right conclusions from learning of it. Hence, the learning of scientific forecast described here, can benefit virtually everyone and in a number of ways. To indicate here examples of how to benefit from this forecast, then e.g. today students, instead of learning a secondary language, may begin to learn the Korean language, or instead of studying in their own country, may choose a scholarship and a study in the South Korea. Today industrialists already now can make connections and relations with Korea, so that in the future they are able to benefit from them in many ways. In turn entire countries can benefit from this forecast, if instead of insisting on a blind love and servitude to an already fallen superpower, they invest their attention and effort into the development of friendly relations and economic ties with the today's South Korea. After all, friendship between two nations and countries once established is to yield fruits for centuries.

#H2. Years 2008 and 2009 already illustrated to us what the prophesised self-destruction of the humanity is going to be:

In 2008 the unexpected and rapid world's economic crisis demonstrated to us quite clearly why the humanity is NOT going to be able to prevent this prophesised self-inflicted wiping out of people, and how this catastrophe is to look like. After all, in 2008 the situation in the world started to illustrate to us, how the shocking short-sightedness of many political leaders of subsequent countries, and how the care of typical politicians just about their own interests, brings to the Earth climatic changes caused by humans. It was also in 2008 that the world's economic depression was started - also caused by the greed of rich people. Both these phenomena, means (a) climatic changes caused by the chase of profits and power, and (b) the world's economic depression caused by the unstoppable greed of people, illustrated to us vividly these human characteristics, which in the final effect are going to bring the prophesised self-destruction onto heads of the present generation.

Of course, scientists who are researching general trends in the development of humanity, and also mathematicians who carry our predictions, already a long ago noticed where this unstoppable chase of profits is leading the humanity. Therefore already in 1972 the so-called "Club of Rome" published a document with forecasting entitled The Limits to Growth. This document forecasted that the untamed drive to growth and to increase in profits, will lead to an overshoot and to decline pattern, which could mean that the limits of sustainability are exceeded. In turn the exceeding the limits of sustainability is to cause the fall down of the human civilisation in a number of areas, including the production of food. In the result, a huge number of people is going to die - perhaps even over 3 to 8 billion of victims of this collapse of our civilisation.

In 2009 a similar model of catastrophe as the one postulated by scientists from the "Club of Rome" was also confirmed in a new report from the Australian CSIRO. Also this report states that the world is following the path toward a self-destruction. Because this Australian report is based on present data - which are more current than the data from 1972, it was able to determine more precisely the date of this collapse of sustainability of the humanity. According to this data, if no significant prevention measures are undertaken, this catastrophe so murderous for the humanity may only be around 20 years away.

Independently from entire organisations and institutions, the alarm is also raised by individual scientists. For example, I encountered an excellent article by Dr John Robinson (applied mathematician), entitled "World shows it's still on course for destruction", from page B5 of the New Zealand newspaper "The Dominion Post", issue dated on Wednesday, March 4, 2009. This article again appeals for waking up and undertaking urgent actions, as in opinion of this author the humanity soon is to pass through the "point of no-return" and then the catastrophe become unavoidable. The author of this article writes, amongst others, quote: "Business and government want the economy and the population to go on growing forever. This has led to a fundamental set of beliefs, that growth is a necessary feature of capitalism, that capitalism is a necessary feature of a free society, and that the freedom of the market is more important than physical reality. A propaganda war has denied any global limits."

#H3. What scenario of the self-inflicted wiping out of the humanity can be deduced from the analysis of to-date behaviour of businessmen and political leaders:

If we watch carefully actions of typical present politicians, then it turns out that they are only able to give eloquent speeches, but their societies never see any constructive actions. This is best visible on the example of reactions of politicians of 2009 to the climate changes and to economic crisis. In turn, if one analyses actions of businessmen, then it is clearly visible that the only thing that interests them, is how to escalate their own profits. In turn what happens to the rest of the world seems to be no their concern. For me personally the most representative behaviour of businessmen was the action of the American insurance giant named AIG. In spite that the management of this corporation ruled so wrongly that it caused billions of dollars of losses, and in spite that their institution would not bankrupt only because it received billions of dollars of financial help from the USA government, still these members of AIG management took decision to pay themselves bonuses of around 165 millions of US$ - for details see the article "Megabuck bonuses for staff who led America's biggest loss", from page A1 of the newspaper The New Zealand Herald, issue dated on Monday, March 16, 2009.

Behaviour, mentality, and immorality of typical present politicians and businessmen is not giving even a slightest hope that they are ever able to come to senses. After all typical present politicians act according to the principle "let it collapse and burn - if only I keep in power". In turn typical present businessman act according to a principle "after me even the end of the world can come - if I only make further millions". In the result it is just almost sure that this old prophecy regarding the self-inflicted wiping out of the majority of humans, is going to fulfil itself. In turn seeing what happened with the economic crisis of the end of 2008 and beginning of 2009, already now we can deduce what the scenario of this incoming self-wiping out of people is going to look like. Let us now summarise briefly this scenario:

The murderous avalanche of destruction will be initiated by an unexpected wave of hunger. In turn hunger brings desperation and madness to everyone in the same way - means to a rich as well as to a poor, to an influential person as well as to an insignificant one. This wave of hunger will hit the humanity when no-one is to expect it. After all, in spite that the Earth's climate worsens increasingly strong, and in spite that the natural resources of the Earth are close to running out, in order to stay in power politicians still keep reassuring their nations that due to their leaderships the future looks bright. Still they lead their countries along the road to abyss close to which we are already. Still, apart from China, no other country is to curb the births explosion, while people still keep multiplying like rabbits - although natural resources are melting away instead of multiplying. Also politicians still keep giving eloquent speeches about their efforts to improve the situation - but still these are just empty words and politicians still refrain from taking any drastic or unpopular actions. In turn businessmen still find excuses to earn billions at the cost of nature, forests, and fertile soil. So at a near future the humanity is to pass through the point of no return and then everything is going to collapse. After this point is passed, the events start to roll with a terrifying speed - in a manner very similar as in the second half of 2008 this happened with the world's economical crisis. The first sign will be that in shops of even the richest countries a shortage of food is to appear - because a natural disaster is to wipe out crops in the last country, the export of food of which used to make an impression that there is enough food in the world. This lack of food will be exaggerated by sensation thirsty press and television. This in turn will cause the eruption of panics and mass looting of shops with food and mass robbery of food storage facilities by hysterical crowds. Authorities will react heavy-handedly, and street fights will erupt. It will be then that guns will fall into unauthorised hands. These ones with guns will form bands to secure food for themselves. Thus mass robberies will begin. The chaos will soon prevail, while authorities will completely loose the control over the population. Everyone will rapidly find himself and herself left just to fend for themselves. The hunger, robberies, and shootings will leave first people dead. Because of the chaos, no-one is to burry them. The plague will begin. People start to die in large numbers. Electricity power-stations, waterworks, and transport cease to exist. Governments and countries will disappear while borders between countries become non-existent. A rapid and massive escape of people from cities will begin. Waves of desperately hungry people are to flood villages causing a kind of the "wild west" in there. Farmers who will still try to grow food become soon victims of bands of robbers and murderers. In turn without food, without the knowledge how to produce food, and without the possibility to find a place where hungry crowds would allow to grow food, soon all these who will still escape of the plague and robberies, will also fall from hunger and exhaustion. In addition, these countries in which initially was maintained the order and law, are to send their armies to own borders, while their soldiers are to shoot to everyone who in the search for food is trying to get onto their territories - until they run out of ammunition and petrol. But with the elapse of time also them will fall to hunger and anarchy. Along the world gradually is to spread the situation similar to circumstances from Lower Silesia in Poland, described in item #C2 of the web page petone.htm, which in medieval times led to the creation in Poland of the "Chapel of Skulls" from Czermna near Kudowa Zdrój. Chaos, anarchy, robberies, shootings, etc., are to spread all over the entire world. The total effect will be almost like after the biblical great flood. The only country whose inhabitants are to survive in relatively unchanged numbers, will be the one which is going to build on time my Magnocrafts (as explained in item #H1.1 above), and which with the aid of these swift vehicles is going to surround its entire borders with an impossible for crossing by bands of hungry people belt of instant death. In the remaining parts of the world this catastrophe will survive only a few sparse people, who will be lucky enough to escape to so hostile areas, that hungry bands of robbers will not be able to find them in there, and who simultaneously will be so knowledgeable about principles of survival in the wilderness, that they will resort to eating worms, insects, slugs, roots, etc. - just in order to survive. When finally the nature will restore a balance, there will be so few people left that when one of them meets footprints of another person, then from the happiness he or she will kiss the ground - exactly as the old Polish prophecy was foretelling this.

#H4. Are people still able to prevent this catastrophe:

If people organise well, then they are able to accomplish anything that they wish. Unfortunately, the prevention of this incoming catastrophe will turn to be very difficult. I personally do NOT believe that the humanity is able to mobilise itself to this task. The reason is, that everything was already designed and is running in the direction of implementing it. Furthermore, God already pre-planned how it is to look like, while His plans He already supplied to people - e.g. through the prophecy described before, and also through content of the Biblical Revelation - which almost completely is devoted to this particular catastrophe. However, if people managed to organise themselves somehow, in order to fulfil several rather difficult conditions, then perhaps this catastrophe could be avoided. Here are these conditions:

(1) Realising by the greater proportion of the people, that God already planned this catastrophe and that He already is nearing the implementation of it. As we know, in the universe nothing happens without the knowledge and the aware action from God. This also includes the incoming catastrophe. Although this catastrophe is to be caused by people, still it is going to occur only because God so pre-planned it, because He foretold it in prophecies and in Biblical verses, and because presently God so chooses situations and conditions that this catastrophe in fact takes place. But in His actions always a principle hits our eyes, that God avoids serving to people the evil about which people already know that it originates from God and are prepared for the arrival of it. An example of just such a principle was the cancellation of the arrival of "bird flu" described on the web page plague.htm. But so-far people still live in blissful unawareness that the catastrophe is coming and that their days are already limited. Still people neither do know, nor wish to know, what is soon to happen. In turn when the majority of people started to expect the arrival of the catastrophe described here, and started to prepare itself to it, then God would cancel the implementation of it. After all, one amongst manifestations of the Godly superiority, is that God always "surprises" people with His actions and serves what people were NOT expecting and were not prepared for - but about what God previously warned them that it is incoming. (Such an element of "surprise" is just one amongst attributes which differentiate unpredictable actions of God, from easy to predict actions of people.) In turn when people take notice of warning signs, predict what is to come, and prepare themselves to the incoming disaster, then God usually rewards their wisdom and cancels the serving of what people are expecting to come.

(2) Stopping the multiplication like rabbits. As so-far only China imposed limits onto the explosion of human numbers. In many other countries people still multiply like rabbits. This in spite that our civilisation already have all these highly effective contraceptives, and also in spite that neither in the Bible authorised by God Himself, nor in any other holy book, is any God's request to NOT use methods of birth control or to NOT use contraceptives. In turn resources of our planet cannot be multiplied like people do. Therefore it is vital that practically all countries of the world introduce laws that every woman is restricted to giving an unconditional birth to just one child - for which she herself is assuming the parental responsibilities. Only in the case when this woman is to prove that she remains in a stable and prosperous relationship with a man who does NOT have yet a child assigned to him, she can apply for an additional privilege of giving birth to a second child - for which however the parental responsibility will legally assume her husband.

(3) Restoration of food self-sufficiency of every country. For some time now we witness on the Earth an increasingly faster decrease in food production. Some countries, for example Zimbabwe (which some time ago used to feed almost the entire Africa), suffocate their food production through political incompetence of their governments. Other countries, for example Argentina (in which it stopped to be "beneficial" to graze cattle), suffocate their food production through the excessive taxes and bureaucratic "red tape". Still another countries, for example China, suffocate their food production through too strong emphasises on the development of industry at the cost of farming. Etc., etc. This dangerous trend of continuous decrease in the food production, is practically a "catastrophe awaiting to happen" during a nearest "food panic". After all, in the event when people initiate a "food panic" - similar to the "panic of crude oil prices" which in 2008 initiated the world's economic depression, then it rapidly turns out that food is unavailable in even the richest countries. From this is just a small step to the initiation of the world-wide unrest, chaos and anarchy. After all, the rebuilding of food production cannot be accomplished in a short period of time, while hungry people become also desperate people.

(4) Assigning personal responsibilities to managers and governors of all institutions. For example, currently businesses have group management by boards of directors, councils, committees, etc. So there is no-one who would assume the personal responsibilities for whatever happens to these institutions. Thus, it is necessary to reorganise businesses so that each of them is governed (or owned) by a single person who is to assume the personal responsibility for all the activities. In turn, whenever a group wisdom is needed, other people could fulfil just only advisory functions, while all decisions would need to be authorised by this single governor who is responsible for everything (although who has the legal right to delegate sections of his responsibilities to people whom he trusts and whom he is going to held accountable for his trust).

(5) Refocusing the industry. Independently from making the manager or governor of every institution personally responsible for all actions of this institution, factories should also change goals of production. So far the production serves only to rip benefits and profits. This in turn leads to wastage of the Earth's resources, and to various deviations. So it is necessary to change goals and principles of production, from the generation of profits into making people happy (i.e. into the generation of moral energy) - see the web page nirvana.htm.

(6) Reconditioning the politicians, so they start to solve problems instead of multiplying problems. This in turn requires the reformation of the entire political systems - see the web page humanity.htm. For example, politicians would need to be elected for a single term only, after which they obligatorily would be forced to leave politics - so that they would NOT have reasons to please their electorates to be elected again and thus would NOT be afraid to take unpopular or hard decisions. Term in office for politicians should be limited to 5 years - so that they have enough time to improve something, but too little time to ruin their own countries. Etc., etc.

(7) The change of political system into totalizm. Reasons for this change are described on the web page partia totalizmu uk.htm. This change would cause, that a new political system would incorporate advantages of capitalism and advantages of socialism, while it would simultaneously be deprived of disadvantages of these old political systems.

Part #I: Old Polish "beliefs", about which it is claimed that they fulfil like "prophecies":

#I1. Let us define "beliefs" which are discussed in this part:

Under the name "prophecies" we typically understand the predictions of some events of a high historical significance, which after the arrival are to affect a lot of people simultaneously. Prophecies typically work on the principle "God planned this, and one day God is going to make it happen, in turn that it is just coming (or already arrived) certify such and such signs". Everything that was described in front of this item, is an example of "prophecies". But folklores of various nations knows also "small prophecies" - which most frequently are called beliefs. (Sometimes other names are also used for them, for example "warnings", "curses", etc.) These "beliefs" supposedly fulfil like prophecies, only that their outcomes are to affect only single people, or small groups (e.g. families, institutions, professional groups, etc.). Beliefs work on principle "beware, because if you do this then you will experience that". Means their fulfilment is described by action of so-called moral laws. The fulfilment of a given belief is completely dependent on our will. It occurs only if we firstly undertake a forbidden action defined by a given belief. Beliefs should be clearly distinguished from "superstitions", outcomes of which - similarly like for "prophecies", are also out of our influence, because they work according to the principle "if appears such and such sign, then this means that soon you will experience that". An example of beliefs can be the so-called curse of inventors described in item #11 of the web page fe_cell.htm, or in items #H1 to #H4 of the web page newzealand_visit.htm. Regarding this "curse of inventors", I already verified it and I am sure that it really does work in real life. This part of the web page discusses more interesting amongst such "beliefs" repeated in old Poland of years 1950s.

#I2. "The person who wastes food in the later life is going to experience the lack of whatever he or she wasted":

For inhabitants of Poland food was considered to be holy throughout the ages. Food was still treated as a kind of holy product even in times of my youth - means in Poland of years 1950s. Until today I remember how my grandfather kissed and asked for forgiveness a slice of bread which accidentally slipped from his hand and dropped to the floor. I also remember how my parents never wasted any kind of food. In turn to the category of "food" then was included everything that could be eaten, starting from bread, through all kinds of meats, and finishing on fruits. The respect to food was so significant, that people of 1950s never would sit to a common meal at the table in the same "working clothes" which they used for work - as this is done in present times. To every common meal at the table people changed then into special "dinner suits" which needed to be appropriately clean and elegant, in order to be worthy to commune with holy food.

During my numerous travels over the world I also discovered that in past food was considered to be "holy" in practically every folklore of the world. Unfortunately, young people dazzled by prosperity of recent times slowly forget about this (one amongst consequences of which forgetting probably will be the fulfilment of the prophecy described in item #H3 of this web page). For example, in items #D1 and #D3 of the web page fruit.htm I am explaining why coconuts and bananas are considered to be "holy" in many tropical countries, while local people claim that trees that bear these fruits display supernatural attributes.

A direct consequence of "holiness" of all food was the folkloristic "belief" which was commonly repeated to young people in Poland of 1950s. This belief stated that if you are going to waste food in any way, in later life you are going to experience the lack of whatever food you were wasting. Whether this old Polish belief actually does fulfil with an iron consequence, so-far I had NO opportunity to check. It happens that wasting food is rather a highly private occupation which normally is carried out behind closed doors of own homes and typically other people do NOT know about it. In the result, so-far I did NOT know anyone about whom I would be sure that he or she intentionally wastes food. Anyway, even if I knew such someone, in order to be sure about his or her future fate I would need to watch this person throughout many years. After all, the fulfilment of beliefs usually takes many years. But some time ago the situation got changed. I encountered an information about two large institutions which started to waste food intentionally (or more strictly - intentionally dump-destroy "kiwifruit" for artificial increase of prices). What their actions boiled down to, it is described in item #D5 of the web page fruit.htm. The fate of institutions can be traced easier than the fate of individual people. After all, if institutions collapse - because they are cut off from the access to the goods that they wasted in past, then various newspapers are going to write about this, while I can accidentally read about such cases.

Old Polish belief that food is holy and that because of this holiness food cannot be wasted, results probably from many causes. For example, by being positioned on crossings of all routes through the Europe, Poland was always tormented by aggressions and wars. In turn the final outcome of these aggressions and wars always turned out to be the lack of food. Furthermore, food probably was considered to be holy because of the amount of work and resources which were needed to produce it. After all, in old times food was NOT "imported" from distant countries - where completely without our effort it was yield by some anonymous creatures. Food in old times was produced locally with of own hands, effort, and sweat. The holiness of food is also confirmed by religions, and even indirectly emphasized in the Bible. After all, "bread" symbolises the "body of Christ". "Fruits" symbolise everything that requires contribution of our work and attention. In turn meat is available for consumption only if some creatures lose their lives - while life is holy and without an absolute need it should NOT be taken. Finally the holiness of food can also be deduced logically from the existence and action of so-called moral laws and from the fact that every living organism, including organisms which produce food, have a soul.

In my research I encountered the action of the moral law which principle suggests that this old Polish belief about the fate of people who waste food should in fact fulfil itself. This law is called the "Law of Partnership Ladder". The description of it is provided in subsections I4.1.1 (see item #6C in there) from volumes 5 of monographs [\[8/2\]](#), [\[1/5\]](#), or [\[1/4\]](#). The principle of work of this moral law in relation to the belief that is discussed here about food, results from facts described on the web page soul_proof.htm. Namely, as this is described on the web page soul_proof.htm, all objects of the universe, including every fruit, and also every tree that bears fruit, has an intelligent "soul". This intelligent soul prevails over matter from our physical world. For details of this prevalence of soul over matter, and also for scientific proofs that souls really do exist - see items #E7 and #E7.1 on that web page soul_proof.htm. So if someone "offends" souls of e.g. fruits, through wasting "bodies" of these fruits, then for a "revenge" these intelligent souls are to make sure that such someone gradually slides down in the "partnership ladder" with fruits, until one day this someone becomes completely deprived of whatever he earlier wasted.

#13. "He who mistreats his visitors is to be punished by God while the privilege of hosting will be taken away from him":

Motto: "If you live in 1930s, would you risk visiting Hitler's Germany?"

During times of Poland 1950s described here, a special attention was placed by Poles to visitors and to the privilege of hosting. Visitors, as well as the privilege of hosting them, were then considered to be a kind of gift from God and a special privilege and honour. (Of course, similarly as this is in present times, the exception was the treatment of "unwanted guests", e.g. enemies, aggressors, bandits, pirates, etc. - the defence against those entering our "home" was classified then as our basic human duty.) This special significance of hosting of other people is expressed in old Polish proverbs and sayings, of the kind "whatever our home have, happily offers it to visitors" (in the original Polish language "czym chata bogata, tym rada"). Also one amongst the beliefs which in past were cultivated regarding visitors and hosting, stated that "He who mistreats his visitors is to be punished by God while the privilege of hosting will be taken away from him". What more interesting, a similar belief about a holy duty of taking good care of our guests, apart from Poland was also cultivated in a significant number of other nations of the world. There are various premises which suggest that this duty is even written permanently into human organs of "conscience", and that there are moral laws in operation, which control the fulfilment of it.

The folklore is NOT the only source, which emphasizes the special significance of hospitality. The disobedience of the holy duty of a hospitable treatment for visitors and for guests, is severely punished even by God. The significance of good treatment of visitors is emphasized by the Bible authorized by God Himself. In fact, the refusal to provide a hospitality to a stranger, the Bible includes to the list of activities for which people are sent to hell (in the Biblical understanding of the "hell" which is explained in item #J2.2 of the web page soul proof.htm) - for an example see "Matthew" 25:42-43, quote: "For I became hungry, but you gave me nothing to eat, and I got thirsty, but you gave me nothing to drink. I was a stranger, but you did not receive me hospitably; naked, but you did not clothe me, sick and in prison, but you did not look after me."

The obvious fact, that these ones who mistreat their innocent guests will be later avoided by other potential visitors, is also indicated by the logic and by a common sense. After all, if potential visitors learn that in a given place someone commits on them systematic murders, rapes, discriminations, persecutions, bullying, etc., then these visitors cease to go to such a place - for an example of such a reaction see the article "Rape sparks warning to tourists", from page A10 of New Zealand newspaper Weekend Herald, issue dated on Saturday, January 24, 2009. In turn, during present times - when the income of many countries depend on tourism, such a cease to visit means a beginning of economic problems.

Illustrations of undesirable consequences of bad treatments of guests can also be found in history. After all, history of many lands reveals, that in areas which were populated by inhospitable tribes or nations, with the elapse of time barbarism and savagery kept escalating. This eventually could even lead to cannibalism. (As it is illustrated in item #F1 of the web page karma.htm, the path from savagery to cannibalism is NOT so distant.) Furthermore, if such inhospitable tribes would NOT eat each other completely just by themselves, then other nations that needed to co-exist with them usually got so sick of them eventually, that at various historically convenient opportunities these inhospitable tribes were annihilated. So history teaches us that the lack of hospitality may lead to barbarism and to savagery, in turn barbarism and savagery may lead to cannibalism and to fall-down of a given civilisation, while cannibalism may lead to a complete annihilation of a given tribe or nation.

In spite of such multiple warnings about catastrophic consequences of failing to maintain the holy duty of being hospitable, the present world becomes increasingly inhospitable. And this is NOT just towards the "unwanted guests" - means towards enemies, aggressors, occupying armies, pirates, abductors, etc. (whose, by the way, the increasingly frequent appearance in recent times is also an expression of extremism in the lack of hospitality). Such an escalating fall-down in hospitality towards innocent visitors we can see at present in practically every area. It begins from apparently small things, for example from an escalation of invitations type "potluck" in private functions - when the invited person is ordered to bring food which he or she is to consume, or from a pre-election campaign in which a nationalistic political party promises to disallow immigrants to enter "our country". Such a creeping of local "culture of easiness and convenience" is visibly one amongst contributing factors which later gradually leads to even more serious acts of the type: bullying, picking on, tormenting, raping, and sometimes even murdering visitors - see the article "Tragic story behind NZ visit", from page A7 of New Zealand newspaper The Dominion Post, issue dated on Thursday, February 5, 2009. If these behaviours are NOT eliminated, then the advanced stage may begin which we know so well from Hitler's Germany - namely when citizens of a given country start to call openly for the removal from jobs and for throwing out from "their country" of emigrants who earlier were invited to come - see the article "Sloppy thinking on jobs unfair to immigrants", from page C2 of New Zealand newspaper The Dominion Post, issue dated on Tuesday, April 21, 2009. In turn, as Hitler meaningfully show this to us, from throwing out emigrants is NOT so far to the formation of nicely named concentration camps for "undesired strangers" and to stepping on a path to savagery.

For me personally the most dangerous seems to be the decrease of hospitality towards scientists, inventors, and other creators. If one looks through the history of new discoveries and inventions, then it turns out that these in majority were accomplished by creators who stayed in a given place after arriving in there as guests or as visitors - for examples consider Maria Curie-Skłodowska, Ernst Rutherford, or Aleksander Możajski. Thus, such increasingly common at present practices of "anti-hospitality", as removal of scientists-emigrants from jobs (e.g. see the article "Lecturer fails to get his job back", from page A4 of New Zealand newspaper The Dominion Post, issue dated on Friday, March 28, 2008), as ceasing to invite for visits or for guest lectures, etc., is to lead initially to freezing, and then to gradual fall-down, of science and technology.

To summarise the old truth (point) which I am trying to remind here, everything may begin from supposedly non-significant failures to be hospitable, while it may finish with the return of "medieval times" of even concentration camps.

#I3.1. God instantly punishes these ones who refuse to be hospitable:

In typical matters "God's mill grinds slow but sure". Therefore, if an individual person causes troubles, then a "God's punishment" \(or "karma"\) for these troubles sometimes arrives only after around 10 or even more years. In turn when a whole country or nation does something nasty, then "God's punishment" \(or "karma"\) for this nastiness may arrive sometimes after more than 100 years. For example, former colonial countries only recently started to pay back the "karma" which they accumulated for themselves during their colonial times. Therefore, it is a kind of shock when we notice that these ones who fail to meet their duty of being hospitable to innocent strangers are punished by God almost immediately.

Evidence of this instant serving the punishment by God can be noticed by everyone - if only one carefully looks around.

In case of individual people the reliable noticing of evidence for such immediate punishment from God is quite difficult. After all, individual people have NO many opportunities to host strangers. In turn when they host someone, then external observers do NOT have good opportunities to notice this nor to judge them. However, in case of entire nations and countries, in present times is NOT difficult to notice the level of their hospitability towards innocent strangers. After all, it is enough to check how easily one can receive a "working visa" from them, or check how they treat so-called "emigrants", or read whether they surround their borders with walls and fences or place strangers in "camps for internees".

If one checks consequences of hospitability and treatment of innocent strangers by subsequent countries, then the outcome is shocking. It turns out that countries which treat inhospitably and nasty their innocent strangers, are immediately troubled with so-called acts of God. (By "acts of God" are understood all disasters, which do NOT have a systematic or a global character, but which randomly destroy selected areas of the Earth. Examples of "acts of God" are fires, droughts, floods, earthquakes, volcano eruptions, plagues, epidemics, local wars, etc.) What is even more interesting, such "acts of God" appear in such countries almost immediately after these countries undertake next steps which decrease their hospitability towards innocent strangers - e.g. immediately after erecting a new wall or fence along the border, after taking a resolution about creation of "camps for internees", etc. Simultaneously countries which hospitably and with open arms accept innocent strangers, are immediately rewarded with the growth in their prosperity and with ceasing "acts of God" which would trouble their territory.

In this item I do not intend to elaborate the matter, but just try to signal the regularity which readers can later verify by themselves. This regularity states that according to the warning contained in the Bible, God does NOT tolerate anyone who refuses hospitability for innocent strangers. Every country and nation which with some its actions decreases own hospitability towards innocent strangers, is immediately punished with so-called "acts of God". Evidence of this punishing can be seen clearly if one looks carefully around the present world.

#14. "The aggressor finally is always defeated":

Another old belief stated that "in case of someone's aggression, in the final effect the aggressor always is defeated". By an aggressor is understood a country or an individual who with the aggressive intentions enters the living space of someone else.

The fulfilment of the rule that "the aggressor always finally is defeated", is illustrated in the best way on examples of aggressive wars. Several such aggressive wars, which all in the final effect were lost by the aggressor, is discussed on the web page bitwa o milicz uk.htm. All aggressive wars were always carried out in a less or more open way until the time when the aggressor finally was defeated.

Part #J: General regularities:

#J1. "Riders of Apocalypse" - why old-timers called with such a name the present situation on the Earth:

We live in breakthrough times. In our sight old prophecies are fulfilling. Someone secretly is dismantling our civilisation to-date piece-by-piece. One does NOT need eyes of an eagle to notice that strange things are happening. For example, only when one considers the first half of October 2005 (when the first formulation of this item was done), then would notice: (1) the bomb in tropical island of Bali on Saturday, 1st October 2005 (around 30 people killed), (2) hurricane "Stan" in Mexico and Guatemala on Monday, 3rd October 2005 with several thousands of victims, (3) murderous earthquake in Pakistan on Sunday 9 October 2005 of the force 7.6 in the Richter scale, with around 60 000 killed people (see the article "Quake toll more than 54 000" from page B2 of the New Zealand newspaper "The Dominion Post", issue dated on Tuesday, 18 October 2005), (4) hail of the tennis balls that massacred Australians from tropical Queensland on 13 October 2005, (5) the scare of approaching "pandemic" of the bird flue, and a whole range of smaller disasters. In turn several days earlier, (i.e. on 24 September 2005) the hurricane "Rita" devastated Texas in the USA killing tens of people. Simultaneously with it also the typhoon "Damrey" appeared in China and Vietnam killing several hundreds of people. Such a stream of disasters is continued on the Earth for all time that elapsed since the examples indicated above.

In the Bible such a piling of artificially created cataclysms is called the "Raiders of Apocalypse". Many sceptics still considers that these Raiders do NOT have anything to do with the present situation on the Earth, but they describe some undefined abstract situation. But, let us consider how we ourselves would name the present situation on the Earth, if we live in antiquity and with the use of some divine revelation we would be shown all what happens today on the Earth. After all, the only means of locomotion in times of antiquity would be riding a horse. We would NOT know machines, nor vehicles, thus e.g. a car or a tank would be a kind of "horse" for us. Similarly an airplane or space station would be a flying "horse". So when we would see such present "horses" carrying various destructive activities - as this happens today, the only way to describe what we see would be the term "Riders of Apocalypse".

#J2. The link between a prophecy, and the characteristics of the place on the Earth in which this prophecy is cultivated:

It appears that there is a special relationship between specific areas of the Earth, and kinds of prophecies that are cultivated in these areas, and that later fulfil with the involvement of these areas.

Part #K: Summary, and the final information of this web page:

#K1. Summary of this web page:

For hundreds of years the national folklore of Poland was repeating various prophecies. People deeply believed in these prophecies - although in their times these prophecies refused to fulfil. However, today, when we live in times when these old prophecies started to fulfil, we rapidly stopped to believe in them! Is this just another confirmation for an old saying that "when God wishes to punish someone, He firstly makes him deaf to rational opinions"?

#K2. How with the web page named "skorowidz_links.htm" one can find totaliztic descriptions of topics in which he is interested:

A whole array of topics equally interesting as these from the above web page, is also discussed from the angle that is unique to the philosophy of totalizm. All these related topics can be found and identified with the use of content index prepared especially to make easier finding these web pages and topics. The name "index" means a list of "key words" usually provided at the end of textbooks, which allows to find fast the description or the topic in which we are interested. My web pages also has such a content "index" - only that it is additionally supplied in green links which after "clicking" at them with a mouse immediately open the web page with the topic that interest the reader. This content "index" is provided on the web page named skorowidz links.htm. It can be called from the "organising" part of "Menu 1" of every totaliztic web page. I would recommend to look at it and to begin using it systematically - after all it brings closer hundreds of totaliztic topics which can be of interest to everyone.

#K3. Blogs of totalizm:

It is also worth to check periodically the blog of totalizm, available at following addresses: totalizm.wordpress.com and totalizm.blox.pl/html. (Notice that all these addresses hold the same blog with the same content of messages.) On this blog many matters discussed here are also explained with additional details written as new events unveil before our eyes.

#K4. Emails to the author of this web page:

Current email addresses to the author of this web page, i.e. officially to Dr Eng. Jan Pajak while courteously to Prof. Dr Eng. Jan Pajak, at which readers can post possible comments, opinions, descriptions, or information which in their opinion I should learn, are provided on the web page named pajak jan uk.htm (for its version in the HTML language), or the web page named pajak jan uk.pdf (for the version of the web page "pajak_jan_uk.pdf" in safe PDF format - which safe PDF versions of further web pages by the author can also be downloaded via links from item #B1 of the web page named text 11.htm).

The author's right for the use of courteous title of "Professor" stems from the custom that "with professors is like with generals", namely when someone is once a professor, than he or she courteously remains a professor forever. In turn the author of this web page was a professor on 4 different universities, i.e. on 3 of them, from 1 September 1992 till 31 October 1998, as an "Associate Professor" from English-based educational system, while on one university as a (Full) "Professor" (since 1 March 2007 till 31 December 2007 - means at the last place of employment in my professional life).

#K5. A copy of this web page is also disseminated as a brochure from series

[11] in the safe format "PDF":

This web page is also available in the form of a brochure marked [11], which is prepared in "PDF" ("Portable Document Format") - currently considered to be the most safe amongst all internet formats, as normally viruses cannot cling to PDF. This clear brochure is ready both, for printing, as well as for reading from a computer screen. It also has all its green links still active. Thus, if it is read from the computer screen connected to internet, then after clicking onto these green links, the linked web pages and illustrations will open. Unfortunately, because the volume of it is around a double of the volume of web page which this brochure publishes, the memory limitations on a significant number of free servers which I use, do NOT allow to offer it from them (so if it does NOT download from this address, because it is NOT available on this server, then you should click onto any other address from Menu 3, and then check whether in there it is available). In order to open this brochure (and/or download it to own computer), it suffices to either click on the following green link or to open from any totaliztic web site the PDF file named as in the above green link.

If the reader wishes to check, whether some other totaliztic web page which he or she just is studying, is also available in the form of such PDF brochure, then should check whether it is listed amongst links from "part #B" of the web page named text 11.htm. This is because links from there indicate all totaliztic web pages, which are already published as such brochures from series [11] in PDF format. I wish you a fruitful reading!
